Edinburgh Companion to the Politics of American Health Sophie A. Jones, Martin Halliwell, 2022-06-17 By emphasising the plurality of health experiences and balancing national and transnational perspectives with the lived realities of diverse communities this groundbreaking collection expands far beyond biomedical conceptions of health Together the contributors take a multi layered view of the politics of US healthcare by examining it from historical cultural medical sociological legal ethical and environmental perspectives Chapters consider major health institutions and the federal policies that guide them the intersection between health and social movements the contours of health and illness with respect to race gender sexuality age and region and the US s often conflicted role in global health governance Dying in America Institute of Medicine, Committee on Approaching Death: Addressing Key End-of-Life Issues, 2015-03-19 For patients and their loved ones no care decisions are more profound than those made near the end of life Unfortunately the experience of dying in the United States is often characterized by fragmented care inadequate treatment of distressing symptoms frequent transitions among care settings and enormous care responsibilities for families According to this report the current health care system of rendering more intensive services than are necessary and desired by patients and the lack of coordination among programs increases risks to patients and creates avoidable burdens on them and their families Dying in America is a study of the current state of health care for persons of all ages who are nearing the end of life Death is not a strictly medical event

Ideally health care for those nearing the end of life harmonizes with social psychological and spiritual support All people with advanced illnesses who may be approaching the end of life are entitled to access to high quality compassionate evidence based care consistent with their wishes Dying in America evaluates strategies to integrate care into a person and family centered team based framework and makes recommendations to create a system that coordinates care and supports and respects the choices of patients and their families The findings and recommendations of this report will address the needs of patients and their families and assist policy makers clinicians and their educational and credentialing bodies leaders of health care delivery and financing organizations researchers public and private funders religious and community leaders advocates of better care journalists and the public to provide the best care possible for people nearing the end of life The Oxford
