Islam In Modern Thailand:

Islam in Modern Thailand Rajeswary Ampalavanar Brown, 2013-10-01 This book addresses the complexity of Islam in Thailand by focusing on Islamic charities and institutions affiliated to the mosque. By extrapolating through Islam and the waqf, Islamic charity in different regions of Thailand, the diversity in races and institutions, it demonstrates the regional contrasts within Thai Islam. The book also underlines the importance of the internal histories of these separate spaces and the processes by which institutions and ideologies become entrenched. It goes on to look at the socio-economic transformation that is taking place within the context of trading networks through Islamic institutions and civil networks linked to mosques, madrasahs and regional power brokers. Brown casts this study of private Islamic welfare as strengthening rather than weakening relations with the secular Thai state. The current regime's effectiveness in coopting these Muslim elites, including Lutfi and Wisoot into state bureaucracies, assists in widening their popular base in the south, in the north east and in Bangkok. Such appointments were efficacious in reinforcing the elite's Islamic identity within a modern secular, literate and cosmopolitan Thai culture. In challenging existing studies of Thai Muslims as furtive protest minorities, this book diverts our attention to how Islamic philanthropy provides the logic and dynamism behind the creation of autonomous spaces for these independent groups, affording unusual insights into their economic, political and social histories.

The Muslims of Thailand Michel Gilquin, 2005 Thailand is usually closely associated with Buddhism, but since 1998 the country has been one of the observer members of the Islamic Conference Organization and senior figures in the present and previous governments have been Muslim. Some 8 percent of the population is Muslim and in the three southernmost provinces of the country they constitute a majority. Islam is ever more visible in Bangkok where the demographic increase of Muslims is marked. Michel Gilquin, a sociologist specializing in the study of Muslim societies and a resident of Morocco, examines the origins of Islam in the kingdom of Siam, Muslim integration into the Thai nation and the effects of globalization and modernity on a mostly traditional and rural community. In particular, he considers the weight of history of the old sultanate of Patani on the present-day Yawi-speaking majority in Narathiwat, Yala and Pattani and the circumstances leading to the troubles which erupted in 2004 and which alas continue. Without proposing any solutions, the book explains the background to the present impasse and considers how far integration of the minority has been and can be successful.

Islam, Education, and Reform in Southern Thailand Joseph Chinyong Liow, 2009 This is a remarkable piece of scholarship that illuminates general and specific tendencies in Islamic education in South Thailand. Armed with an enormous amount of rich empirical detail and an elegant writing style, the author debunks the simplistic Orientalist conceptions of Wahhabi and Salafi influences on Islamic education in South Thailand. This work will be a state-of-the-art source for understanding the role of Islam and the ongoing conflict in this troubled region of Southeast Asia. The book is significant for those scholars who are attempting to understand Muslim communities in Southeast Asia and also for those who want deep insights into Islamic education and its influence in
