Transforming Higher Education in Asia and Africa
Fred M. Hayward, 2020-03-01 Drawing on over fifty years of on the ground experience Fred M Hayward s Transforming Higher Education in Asia and Africa analyzes change processes in higher education in eight Asian and African countries The twelve cases range from the push to upgrade and transform higher education in Afghanistan in the midst of a war to the successful struggle against apartheid in South African institutions as well as thwarted efforts in Sierra Leone and Madagascar Providing both practical lessons learned and hope for communities globally Hayward demonstrates that higher education change and even transformation which is more fundamental and structural can occur even in the most difficult environments Successful transformation requires well crafted strategic and budget plans with careful implementation monitoring and effective leadership at multiple levels Yet also critical are a commitment to human development a desire for freedom and belief in democracy and recognition that high quality higher education is essential to national development

Prospects for quinoa adaptation and utilization in Eastern and Southern Africa Maliro, M.F.A., Abang, M.M., Mukankusi, C., Lung'aho, M., Fenta, B., Wanderi, S., Kapa, R., Okiro, O.A., Koma, E., Mwaba, C., Isse, M.M. and Bazile, D., Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations ,2021-01-22 Quinoa Chenopodium quinoa Willd is an emerging crop in the world with great potential to contribute to Africa s food and nutritional security The increased popularity of quinoa in the last few years is attributed to the impact of activities carried out within the framework of the International Year of Quinoa IYQ2013 which helped greatly to raise awareness on the crop's multiple nutritional benefits and its expanding cultivation globally. The Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) which championed the IYQ2013 has worked with developing countries in Africa which are grappling with food and nutrition insecurity to introduce and promote cultivation of quinoa. Production and utilization of quinoa is expected to significantly reduce food and nutrition insecurity and help farming communities adapt to climate change. FAO implemented a Technical Cooperation on quinoa titled Technical Assistance for the Strengthening of the Food System of Quinoa TCP/SFE 3406 implemented in 2014 to 2015. This project was designed to support the institutional capacities of seven countries including Djibouti, Ethiopia, Kenya, Somalia, South Sudan, Uganda, and Zambia in the production, evaluation, management, utilization, and marketing of Quinoa under diverse farming systems and agro-ecological zones. The project was implemented and led by the FAO Subregional office for Eastern Africa. SFE Quinoa evaluation trials that were conducted across multiple sites in the participating countries served as pilot adaptability studies for the crop. This technical paper presents key technological, institutional, and policy considerations for the successful introduction, adaptation, and utilization of quinoa in Africa.

Fertilizer subsidies in Malawi: From past to present Benson, Todd, De Weerd, Joachim, Duchoslav, Jan, Masanjala, Winford, 2024-02-12. Malawi has been at the center of the debate on agricultural input subsidies in Africa ever since it significantly expanded its fertilizer subsidy program about two decades ago. When it did so, Malawi was a trailblazer receiving international attention for seemingly leveraging the subsidy program to move the country from a situation characterized by food deficits and widespread hunger to crop production surpluses. In this paper, we trace the history of Malawi's subsidy program over the past 70 years, describing how the country arrived at that watershed moment earlier this century and how the subsidy program has developed since. We show how donor support for the program has wavered and how external pressure to remove the subsidy has repeatedly been unsuccessful. We also demonstrate how over the years the program's total fiscal burden has fluctuated significantly. However, we find that since the expansion of the subsidy program in 2004, the fiscal costs of the program have shown little correlation with the maize harvest that same agricultural season. We show that the subsidy program has succeeded in raising awareness about the value of the fertilizer for increased crop productivity. However, despite its continued prominence in the country's agricultural policy, most Malawian smallholders do not manage to grow sufficient maize to feed their households throughout the year, and every year millions depend on food assistance during the worst months of the lean season.

Livestock Genomics and Community-based Breeding Strategies in Low-and-Middle-Income Countries: Challenges, Opportunities and Future Perspectives Isidore Houaga, Maria Wurzinger, Ntanganedzeni Mapholi, 2024-07-17. Low and Middle Income Countries (LMICs) are home to diverse populations of livestock species adapted to various agro-ecological zones, production systems, and harsh environmental conditions. However, the livestock in LMICs have not been systematically improved and current low levels of productivity do not meet the demand for livestock products by a growing population Recent advances in next generation sequencing and genotyping technologies have enabled the application of genomic selection in various livestock species in some western countries with great success Despite the low adoption of genomic breeding in LMICs livestock industry various studies and programs were initiated and some are still ongoing Furthermore community based breeding programs CBBP have been initiated in many LMICs with great benefits for smallholder livestock farmers CBBPs are based on the active participation of farmers from inception through to implementation and consider their needs views decisions breeding objectives and available infrastructure In Africa for instance small ruminants CBBPs have generated substantial genetic gains and socioeconomic benefits for rural poor farmers However the current challenges affecting the data recording and genetic evaluation of the CBBPs in LMICS are yet to be fully reported Furthermore the CBBPs are yet to integrate genomic selection in their breeding strategies For sustainable livestock breeding in LMICs there is a need to assess the current status of livestock genomics and community based breeding strategies to identify the challenges and suggest mitigating strategies and future improvement strategy plans In this Research Topic we aim to collect findings from past and current livestock genomics and community based breeding programs the challenges the lessons learned the opportunities and future perspectives
