Life Science Paper november 2013 Grade 11:

Educational Neuroscience, Constructivist Learning, and the Mediation of Learning and Creativity in the 21st Century

Layne Kalbfleisch, 2015-05-28 The advent of educational neuroscience a transdisciplinary exercise emerging from cognitive neuroscience and educational psychology is the examination of physiological processes that undermine support and enhance the capacities to learn and create The physiological underpinnings of learning and creativity each impact human ability and performance and mediate the processes of becoming educated expert and valued Evidence of learning provides support to an ongoing canon process system field or domain while evidence of creativity results in an elaboration or departure from an ongoing canon process system field or domain Educational neuroscience extends a challenge to scholars from multiple contexts to engage in the characterization and exploration of human ability and performance in these realms The role of context both environmental and interoceptive is an integral part of efforts in educational neuroscience and in theories of constructivist learning to contribute ecologically valid insight to the pragmatic processes of learning and creativity Examination at this level of specificity is vital to our ability to educate and support human potential in the 21st century This Research Topic examines the neural basis of cognitive states and processes that influence knowledge and skill acquisition tied to the demonstration of human ability and performance across individual differences and in multiple contexts including STEM learning and the arts

Medical Sexism Jill B. Delston, 2019-10-17 Doctors routinely deny patients access to hormonal birth control prescription refills and this issue has broad interest for feminism biomedical ethics and applied ethics in general Medical Sexism argues that such practices violate a variety of legal and moral standards including medical malpractice informed consent and human rights Jill B Delston makes the case that medical sexism serves as a major underlying cause of these systemic and persistent violations Delston also considers other common abuses in the medical field such as policy on abortion access and treatment in childbirth Delston argues that sexism is a better explanation for the widespread abuse of patient autonomy in reproductive health and health care generally Identifying addressing and rooting out medical sexism is necessary to successfully protect medical and moral values

Policy-Making in the GCC Neil Quilliam, Mark C. Thompson, 2017-09-11 The GCC is a major player in the post 2011 reordering of the Middle East Despite the rise in prominence of individual Gulf states especially Kuwait Qatar Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates and the growth of the GCC as a collective entity surprisingly little attention has been paid to the actual mechanics of policy making in the region This book analyses the vital role that institutions are coming to play in shaping policy in the Gulf Arab states The research coincides with two key developments that have given institutions new importance in the policy process the emergence of a new generation of leaders in the Gulf and the era of low oil prices Both developments along with dramatic demographic change have compelled state and citizens to re evaluate the nature of the social contract that binds them together Contributors assess the changing relationship between state and citizen and evaluate the role that formal and informal institutions play in mediating such change and informing policy The book shows how academic social and economic institutions are responding to the increasingly complex process of decision making where citizens demand better services and further empowerment and states are obliged to seek wider counsel although wanting to retain ultimate authority With contributions from both academics and practitioners this book will be highly relevant for researchers and policymakers alike

Framing Opioid Prescribing Guidelines for Acute Pain National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Health and Medicine Division, Board on Health Care Services, Committee on Evidence-Based Clinical Practice Guidelines for Prescribing Opioids for Acute Pain, 2020-02-20 The opioid overdose epidemic combined with the need to reduce the burden of acute pain poses a public health challenge To address how evidence based clinical practice guidelines for prescribing opioids for acute pain might help meet this challenge Framing Opioid Prescribing Guidelines for Acute Pain Developing the Evidence develops a framework to evaluate existing clinical practice guidelines for prescribing opioids for acute pain indications recommends indications for which new evidence based guidelines should be developed and recommends a future research agenda to inform and enable specialty organizations to develop and disseminate evidence based clinical practice guidelines for prescribing opioids to treat acute pain indications The recommendations of this study will assist professional societies health care organizations and local state and national agencies to develop clinical practice guidelines for opioid prescribing for acute pain Such a framework could inform the development of opioid prescribing guidelines and ensure systematic and standardized methods for evaluating evidence translating knowledge and formulating recommendations for practice
