Making News at The New York Times Nikki Usher, 2014-04-24 An ethnographic study of The New York Times business desk provides a unique vantage point to see the future for news in the digital age

Journalism in the Age of Virtual Reality John V. Pavlik, 2019-09-17 With the advent of the internet and handheld or wearable media systems that plunge the user into 360o video augmented or virtual reality technology is changing how stories are told and created In this book John V Pavlik argues that a new form of mediated communication has emerged experiential news Experiential media delivers not just news stories but also news experiences in which the consumer engages news as a participant or virtual eyewitness in immersive multisensory and interactive narratives Pavlik describes and analyzes new tools and approaches that allow journalists to tell stories that go beyond text and image He delves into developing forms such as virtual reality haptic technologies interactive documentaries and drone media presenting the principles of how to design and frame a story using these techniques Pavlik warns that although experiential news can heighten user engagement and increase understanding it may also fuel the transformation of fake news into artificial realities and he discusses the standards of ethics and accuracy needed to build public trust in journalism in the age of virtual reality Journalism in the Age of Virtual Reality offers important lessons for practitioners seeking to produce quality experiential news and those interested in the ethical considerations that experiential media raise for journalism and the public

Becoming the News Ruth Palmer, 2017-12-05 What does it feel like to be featured quoted or just named in a news story A refugee family the survivor of a shooting a primary voter in Iowa the views and experiences of ordinary people are an important component of journalism While much has been written about how journalists work and gather stories what do we discover about the practice of journalism and attitudes about the media by focusing on the experiences of the subjects themselves In Becoming the News Ruth Palmer argues that understanding the motivations and experiences of those who have been featured in news stories voluntarily or not sheds new light on the practice of journalism and the importance many continue to place on the role of the mainstream media Based on dozens of interviews with news subjects Becoming the News studies how ordinary people make sense of their experience as media subjects Palmer charts the arc of the experience of making the news from the events that brought an ordinary person to journalists attention through the decision to cooperate with reporters interactions with journalists and reactions to the news coverage and its aftermath She explores what motivates someone to talk to the press whether they consider the potential risks the power dynamics between a journalist and their subject their expectations about the motivations of journalists and the influence of social media on their decisions and reception Pointing to the ways traditional news organizations both continue to hold on to and are losing their authority Becoming the News has important implications for how we think about the production and consumption of news at a time when Americans distrust the news media more than ever

On Press Matthew Pressman, 2018-11-05 A study of how mainstream journalism transformed from 1960 to 1980 In the 1960s and

1970s the American press embraced a new way of reporting and selling the news The causes were many the proliferation of television pressure to rectify the news media's dismal treatment of minorities and women accusations of bias from left and right and the migration of affluent subscribers to suburbs As Matthew Pressman's timely history reveals during these tumultuous decades the core values that held the profession together broke apart and the distinctive characteristics of contemporary American journalism emerged Simply reporting the facts was no longer enough In a country facing assassinations a failing war in Vietnam and presidential impeachment reporters recognized a pressing need to interpret and analyze events for their readers Objectivity and impartiality the cornerstones of journalistic principle were not jettisoned but they were reimagined Journalists' adoption of an adversarial relationship with government and big business along with sympathy for the dispossessed gave their reporting a distinctly liberal drift Yet at the same time soft news lifestyle arts entertainment moved to the forefront of editors' concerns as profits took precedence over politics Today the American press stands once again at a precipice Accusations of political bias are more rampant than ever and there are increasing calls from activists customers advertisers and reporters themselves to rethink the values that drive the industry As On Press suggests today's controversies the latest iteration of debates that began a half century ago will likely take the press in unforeseen directions and challenge its survival Praise for On Press The ultimate story behind all the stories In tracing the evolution of news over the past half century Matthew Pressman has produced an account that's deeply historical and not a little troubling In an age when the press is alternately villain or hero Pressman serves as a kind of medicine man of journalism telling us how we got from there to here and warning us what must change Graydon Carter former editor of Vanity Fair Pressman helps us understand how we came to our current troubled media moment with his deeply researched engagingly written history of America's press in the 1960s and 70s This is an important and original contribution and a needed one Margaret Sullivan media columnist for the Washington Post

How Media Ownership Matters Rodney Benson, Mattias Hesserus, Timothy Neff, Julie Sedel, 2025-02-19 How Media Ownership Matters provides a roadmap to understanding how variable forms of ownership are shaping the future of journalism and democracy Through a comparative analysis of the US Sweden and France this book maps and analyzes four ownership models market private civil society and public Highlighting the effects of organizational logics funding and target audiences on the content of news the authors identify both the strengths and weaknesses various forms of ownership have in facilitating journalism that meets the democratic ideals of reasoned critical and inclusive public debate

Networked News, Racial Divides Sue Robinson, 2018 Tracks power privilege and processes of community trust building in digitized media ecologies focusing on public dialogues about racial inequality

Media Today Joseph Turow, 2016-10-04 Media Today uses convergence as a lens that puts students at the center of the profound changes in the 21st century media world Through the convergence lens they learn to think critically about the role of media today and what these changes mean for their lives presently and in the future The book's media systems approach helps students to look carefully at how media content is created distributed and exhibited in the new world that the digital revolution has created From newspapers to video games and social networking to mobile platforms Media Today prepares students to live in the digital world of media

News for the Rich, White, and Blue Nikki Usher,2021-06-08 In News for the Rich White and Blue Nikki Usher recasts the challenges facing journalism in terms of place power and inequality Drawing on more than a decade of field research she illuminates how journalists decide what becomes news and how news organizations strategize about the future

News for the Rich, White, and Blue Nik Usher,2021-07-06 As cash strapped metropolitan newspapers struggle to maintain their traditional influence and quality reporting large national and international outlets have pivoted to serving readers who can and will choose to pay for news skewing coverage toward a wealthy white and liberal audience Amid rampant inequality and distrust media outlets have become more out of touch with the democracy they purport to serve How did journalism end up in such a predicament and what are the prospects for achieving a more equitable future In News for the Rich White and Blue Nikki Usher recasts the challenges facing journalism in terms of place power and inequality Drawing on more than a decade of field research she illuminates how journalists decide what becomes news and how news organizations strategize about the future Usher shows how newsrooms remain places of power largely white institutions growing more elite as journalists confront a shrinking job market She details how Google Facebook and the digital advertising ecosystem have wreaked havoc on the economic model for quality journalism leaving local news to suffer Usher also highlights how the handful of likely survivors well funded media outlets such as the New York Times increasingly appeal to a global placeless reader News for the Rich White and Blue concludes with a series of provocative recommendations to reimagine journalism to ensure its resiliency and its ability to speak to a diverse set of issues and readers □□□□□□,2018

Interactive Journalism Nikki Usher,2016-10-13 Interactive journalism has transformed the newsroom Emerging out of changes in technology culture and economics this new specialty uses a visual presentation of storytelling that allows users to interact with the reporting of information Today it stands at a nexus part of the traditional newsroom yet still novel enough to contribute innovative practices and thinking to the industry Nikki Usher brings together a comprehensive portrait of nothing less than a new journalistic identity Usher provides a comprehensive history of the impact of digital technology on reporting photojournalism graphics and other disciplines that define interactive journalism Her eyewitness study of the field s evolution and accomplishments ranges from the interactive creation of Al Jazeera English to the celebrated data desk at the Guardian to the New York Times Pulitzer endowed efforts in the new field What emerges is an illuminating richly reported portrait of the people coding a revolution that may reverse the decline and fall of traditional journalism Black Newspapers Index ,2007 Who's who in Entertainment ,1992 Time ,2001-09 Arts & Humanities Citation Index ,1980 Yale Alumni Magazine ,1961 Cue ,1971 Down Beat ,1976 The contemporary music magazine Art of Darkness Chris Gallant,2001 Dario Argento is the undisputed master of Italian horror cinema His films disrupt what is often perceived as an inflexible divide between the artistic and the commercial high art and exploitation forging a surprising exciting inimitable signature style Film Review ,2004
