Evolution Education Around the Globe Hasan Deniz, Lisa A. Borgerding, 2018-06-21 This edited book provides a global view on evolution education. It describes the state of evolution education in different countries that are representative of geographical regions around the globe such as Eastern Europe, Western Europe, North Africa, South Africa, North America, South America, Middle East, Far East, South East Asia, Australia, and New Zealand. Studies in evolution education literature can be divided into three main categories: a) understanding the interrelationships among cognitive, affective, epistemological, and religious factors that are related to people's views about evolution; b) designing/implementing/evaluating evolution education curriculum that reflects contemporary evolution understanding; and c) reducing antievolutionary attitudes. This volume systematically summarizes the evolution education literature across these three categories for each country or geographical region. The individual chapters thus include common elements that facilitate a cross-cultural meta-analysis. Written for a primarily academic audience, this book provides a much-needed common background for future evolution education research across the globe.

Literature and the Work of Universality Alice Duhan, Stefan Helgesson, Christina Kullberg, Paul Tenngart, 2024-07-22

In an age of accelerating ecological crises global inequalities and democratic fragility it has become crucial to achieve renewed articulations of human commonality

With anchorage in critical theory as well as world literary studies this volume approaches literature and modes of literary thinking as a key resource for such a task

Universality is understood here not as an established universalism but as a horizon towards which intellectual inquiry and literary practices orient themselves

In the field of world literature there is by now a wide repertoire of epistemological resources through which claims to universality can be both questioned and reconfigured

If at one end of the spectrum world literature confronts us with the spectre of homogenisation and the commodification of difference under a regime of global capitalism at another end renewed forms of philological anthropological and ecological attentiveness to the particulars of languages and texts within the crucible of connected histories allow for defamiliarising perspectives both on received historical narratives and aesthetic practices

Vernacularity emerges here as a central point of reference for constructing the universal from within the particular the idiomatic and the experiences of social subordination or complicity

Human Roots Lawrence Barham, Kate Robson-Brown, 2001

Sixteen papers taken from a Human Roots meeting held in Bristol in 2000 that focused on the question of how different were humans and human behaviour in Africa and the Far east during the Middle Pleistocene

The contributors draw on evidence from recent archaeological fieldwork and represent different schools of thought concerning the Out of Africa or Multi Regional origins of man

Among the regions or countries discussed are southern central and eastern Africa China the Yangtze River Australasia and India

Human Evolution Joseph Benjamin Birdsell, 1975

Educational Technology and Pedagogic Encounters Yusef Waghid, 2016-07-15

This book looks at some of the underlying theories of educational technology means and ways in which this technology is guided in practice ends

The authors are intent on producing ends that prepare students to undertake new analyses and evaluations that can result in new possibilities for democratic action

Emphasis is on their understanding of and position within educational technology as opposed to using or applying educational technology

The work is not written from the point of view that their embeddedness within educational technology has a utilitarian end in mind but rather that their situatedness within educational technology a practice in itself leaves open possibilities for new ways of understanding democratic education

This book is organised into six interrelated themes that work towards the cultivation of educational technology as a human practice which guides pedagogic encounters on the basis of taking risks in relation to which the unexpected unimaginable is always possible

The Evolution of the Human Head Daniel E. Lieberman, 2011-05-03

In one sense human heads function much like those of other mammals

We use them to chew smell swallow think hear and so on

But in other respects the human head is quite unusual

Unlike other animals even our great ape cousins our heads are short and wide very big brained snoutless largely furless and perched on a short nearly vertical neck Daniel E Lieberman sets out to explain how the human head works and why our heads evolved in this peculiarly human way Exhaustively researched and years in the making this innovative book documents how the many components of the head function how they evolved since we diverged from the apes and how they interact in diverse ways both functionally and developmentally causing them to be highly integrated This integration not only permits the head's many units to accommodate each other as they grow and work but also facilitates evolutionary change Lieberman shows how when and why the major transformations evident in the evolution of the human head occurred The special way the head is integrated Lieberman argues made it possible for a few developmental shifts to have had widespread effects on craniofacial growth yet still permit the head to function exquisitely This is the first book to explore in depth what happened in human evolution by integrating principles of development and functional morphology with the hominin fossil record The Evolution of the Human Head will permanently change the study of human evolution and has widespread ramifications for thinking about other branches of evolutionary biology Psychology, 1931 Human Evolution Through Developmental Change Nancy Minugh-Purvis, Ken McNamara, 2002-01-11 This book reflects two major strands of research in the study of human heterochrony the change in the timing and rate of development of individuals School and Society James McKeen Cattell, Raymond Walters, 1923 Genes, Fossils, and Behaviour Peter Donnelly, Robert Foley, 2001 While the basic pattern of hominid evolution is well documented the recent evolutionary history of homo sapiens is less clear Application of molecular genetics techniques has great potential for resolving issues over this period but as the complexity of such data increases the quantitative methods used for its analysis are becoming more important This phase is also one of the richest for biological and behavioural evidence derived from both fossils and archaeology The book will contain expository and state of the art research contributions from experts in these diverse areas covering data and its interpretation and experimental and analytical techniques Time Briton Hadden, Henry Robinson Luce, 1925 Reels for 1973 include Time index 1973 The Journal of Philosophy, Psychology and Scientific Methods, 1907 Human Evolution Camilo J. Cela-Conde, Francisco J. Ayala, 2007-09-27 Human Evolution provides a comprehensive overview of hominid evolution synthesising data and approaches from fields as diverse as physical anthropology evolutionary biology molecular biology genetics archaeology psychology and philosophy The book starts with chapters on evolution population genetics systematics and the methods for constructing evolutionary trees These are followed by a comprehensive review of the fossil history of human evolution since our divergence from the apes Subsequent chapters cover more recent data both fossil and molecular relating to the evolution of modern humans A final section describes the evolution of culture language art and morality The authors are leading experts in two complementary fields of scholarship physical anthropology and molecular evolution Throughout the book they successfully integrate their expertise in evolutionary theory phylogenetics genomics cultural evolution language aesthetics and morality to produce a cutting edge textbook copiously illustrated and with an extensive and up to date bibliography It will be suitable for both senior undergraduate and graduate level students taking courses on human evolution within departments of biology anthropology psychology and philosophy The book will also appeal to a more general audience seeking a readable up to date and inclusive treatment of human origins and evolution Science John Michels (Journalist),1922
