Smith,2015-11-04 In the highly competitive world of biomedical science often the rush to publish and to be recognized as first with a new discovery concept or method is lost in the hurly burly of the moment as the maddening crowd moves on to the next new thing One of the great things about immunology today is that it has only become mature as a science within the last half century and especially within the past 35 years as a consequence of the revolution of molecular immunology which has taken place only since 1980 Consequently most of those who have contributed to our new understanding of how the immune system functions are still alive and well and still contributing Thus A Living History of Immunology collates many stories from the investigators who actually performed the experiments that have established the frontiers of immunology Accordingly this volume combats revisionist science by those who want to alter history by telling the stories a different way than actually happened In this regard one of the good things about science vs other disciplines is that we have the written record of what was done when it was done and by whom Even so we do not have the complete story or narrative of how and why experiments were done and what made the differences that led to success This volume captures and chronicles some of these stories from the past fifty years in immunology Bihar and Mithila J. Albert Rorabacher,2016-09-13

The world has become obsessed with the Western notions of progress development and globalization the latter a form of human and economic homogenization These processes through the aegis of the United Nations are comparatively monitored Those nations deemed to be lagging behind are then provided with foreign aid and developmental assistance For nearly seventy years India has sought its place in this global endeavour yet even today abject poverty and backwardness can be observed in districts in almost every state with the highest concentration of such districts found in the state of Bihar and a cultural enclave known as Mithila Development in India has been elusive because it is difficult to define and because the Western concepts of development and progress have no absolute equivalents within many non Western settings As a consequence development programmes often fail because they are unable to ask the right questions but equally important is the political economy derived from foreign aid For politicians there is no long term benefit to be derived from successful development In general foreign aid only serves to corrupt governments and politicians and in the end does very little for those who need help The struggling states of Bihar and Mithila serve as extreme examples of India s problems Development here has been
