The background of the entire cover is a photograph of a sunset or sunrise over a dark, choppy sea. The sun is a bright, glowing orb just above the horizon, casting a long, shimmering path of light across the water. The sky is filled with soft, wispy clouds in shades of orange, yellow, and blue. In the distance, the silhouette of an offshore oil rig is visible on the horizon line, positioned slightly to the right of the sun.

Luck and Judgement Peter Grainger, 2026-06-04 Get ready to be hooked by the third thrilling and atmospheric murder mystery from the million copy selling crime writer this time DC Smith is looking for a body but what he finds is far more sinister Ensconced in Kings Lake in the company of Smith and his team I didn't want to leave FINANCIAL TIMES The books are comforting the writing is subtle and the plots are gripping THE TIMES When a worker goes missing from a North Sea gas platform there seem to be just two possible explanations it was a tragic accident or a suicide It does not take Smith and his detectives long however to discover that James Bell led a double life back onshore in Kings Lake a life complicated enough to make him at least one dangerous enemy Before the case can be unravelled Smith must get a new team working together Waters and Murray are still there but one of Wilson's men is transferred to him and the female detective constable from Longmarsh poses some unexpected problems for her new sergeant Together they begin to investigate the links between the companies and the people that bring ashore the oil and gas and they also find themselves caught up in the seamier side of life that exists beneath Lake's everyday comings and goings The curious writer Jo Evison begins to delve more deeply into the story of the Andretti murders and Smith himself has to face the fact that he might no longer be considered fit for duty Readers love A DC Smith Kings Lake Investigation Series Had me gripped from the very start to the extremely satisfying ending Where has Peter Grainger been my whole life An excellent intelligent and believable crime series which just gets better Engaging characters intriguing plots and occasional humour make for a page turning read I read a LOT of murder mysteries and this series is one of the best Serial Killers David Wilson, 2007 This book looks at all serial murders in Britain from the gay murders of Michael Copeland in 1960 to the Ipswich murders of 2006 Throughout the work follows events from a social and victim related perspective Criminologist and ex prison governor David Wilson concludes that we are not all at risk everyday from what he terms hunting Britons rather it is people from a variety of vulnerable groups the elderly women involved in prostitution gay men runaways throwaways and children moving from place to place Challenges for Humanitarian Intervention C. A. J. Coady, Ned Dobos, Sagar Sanyal, 2018-05-10 Ten new essays critique the practice armed humanitarian intervention and the Responsibility to Protect doctrine that advocates its use under certain circumstances The contributors investigate the causes and consequences as well as the uses and abuses of armed humanitarian intervention One enduring concern is that such interventions are liable to be employed as a foreign policy instrument by powerful states pursuing geo political interests Some of the chapters interrogate how the presence of ulterior motives impact on the moral credentials of armed humanitarian intervention Others shine a light on the potential adverse effects of such interventions even where they are motivated primarily by humanitarian concern The volume also tracks the evolution of the R2P norm and draws attention to how it has evolved for better or for worse since UN member states unanimously accepted it over a decade ago In some respects the norm has been distorted to yield prescriptions and to impose constraints fundamentally at odds with the spirit of the R2P idea This gives us all the more reason to be cautious of unwarranted optimism about humanitarian intervention and the Responsibility to Protect      Editor & Publisher ,1955 The fourth estate      Arts & Humanities Citation Index ,1995      The Philosopher's Index ,1985 Vols for 1969 include a section of abstracts      The Bookseller ,1979      General Catalogue of Printed Books to 1955 British Museum.
