C. Kula, Jochen Zeller

June 2015 Isizulu Paper :

They Shimmer Within: Cognitive-Evolutionary Perspectives on Visionary Beings Bruce Rimell, 2018-01-19 The use of psychedelic drugs plants is rising and with it the number of reports narrating encounters with otherworldly visionary beings Approaches to these experiences have often been literal archetypal or dismissive Evolutionary psychology and the cognitive science of religion suggest innate and non imagistic mental foundations for these phenomena arising from easily triggered evolutionary functions during emotive periods of high cognitive demand Such functions include agent detection social intelligence faculties and metacognition This wide ranging book explores how our deepest mental processes predispose us as humans to believe in supernatural agents and presents a new hypothesis of how these same cognitions facilitate the emergence of those agents to become present when psychedelic drugs and plants are ingested Bruce concludes that visionary beings shimmer within as awe inspiring products of the mind an experience which rests at the heart of what it is to be human

Intersectionality and Women's Access to Justice in Africa J. Jarpa Dawuni, 2022-10-17 Intersectionality and Women's Access to Justice edited by J Jarpa Dawuni propounds layered intersectionality as a paradigm for examining how gendered factors affect women's access to justice whether as judges or litigants Through intersectional and decolonial frameworks the contributors analyze the lived experiences of women and their access to justice by situating the courtroom as both a spatial and a temporal arena for seeking justice as litigants and for seeking access to the bench as judges This book examines patterns of mutually reinforcing discriminatory practices that women share based on common gender identities and depending on which identities are at play at a given point in time in both traditional and statutory courts The book provides recommendations for various justice sector providers

Cape Town Harmonies Armelle Gaulier, Denis-Constant

Martin, 2017-07-19 Cape Town's public cultures can only be fully appreciated through recognition of its deep and diverse soundscape. We have to listen to what has made and makes a city. The ear is an integral part of the research tools one needs to get a sense of any city. We have to listen to the sounds that made and make the expansive mother city. Various of its constituent parts sound different from each other. There is the sound of the singing men and their choirs; teams they are called in preparation for the longstanding annual Malay choral competitions. The lyrics from the various repertoires they perform are hardly ever written down. There are texts of the hallowed Dutch songs but these do not circulate easily and widely. Researchers dream of finding lyrics from decades ago, not to mention a few generations ago back to the early 19th century. This work by Denis Constant Martin and Armelle Gaulier provides us with a very useful selection of these songs. More than that, it is a critical sociological reflection of the place of these songs and their performers in the context that have given rise to them and sustains their relevance. It is a necessary work and is a very important scholarly intervention about a rather neglected aspect of the history and present production of music in the city.
