Maths Literacy Memorandum November 2013:

The Most Important Year Suzanne Bouffard, 2017-09-05 An eye opening look inside pre K in America and what it will take to give all children the best start in school possible At the heart of this groundbreaking book are two urgent questions What do our young children need in the earliest years of school and how do we ensure that they all get it Cutting edge research has proven that early childhood education is crucial for all children to gain the academic and emotional skills they need to succeed later in life Children who attend quality pre K programs have a host of positive outcomes including better language literacy problem solving and math skills down the line and they have a leg up on what appears to be the most essential skill to develop at age four strong self control But even with this overwhelming evidence early childhood education is at a crossroads in America We know that children can and do benefit but we also know that too many of our littlest learners don't get that chance millions of parents can't find spots for their children or their preschoolers end up in poor quality programs With engrossing storytelling journalist Suzanne Bouffard takes us inside some of the country's best pre K classrooms to reveal the sometimes surprising ingredients that make them work and to understand why some programs are doing the opposite of what is best for children It also chronicles the stories of families and teachers from many backgrounds as they struggle to give their children a good start in school This book is a call to arms when we are at a crucial moment and perhaps on the verge of a missed opportunity We now have the means and the will to have universal pre kindergarten but we are also in grave danger of not getting it right

Digital Samaritans Jim Ridolfo, 2015-09-16 Digital Samaritans explores rhetorical delivery and cultural sovereignty in the digital humanities The exigence for the book is rooted in a practical digital humanities project based on the digitization of manuscripts in diaspora for the Samaritan community the smallest religious ethnic group of 770 Samaritans split between Mount Gerizim in the Palestinian Authority and in Holon Israel Based on interviews with members of the Samaritan community and archival research Digital Samaritans explores what some Samaritans want from their diaspora of manuscripts and how their rhetorical goals and objectives relate to the contemporary existential and rhetorical situation of the Samaritans as a living breathing people How does the circulation of Samaritan manuscripts especially in digital environments relate to their rhetorical circumstances and future goals and objectives to communicate their unique cultural history and religious identity to their neighbors and the world Digital Samaritans takes up these questions and more as it presents a case for collaboration and engaged scholarship situated at the intersection of rhetorical studies and the digital humanities

Practical Handbook of Multi-Tiered Systems of Support Rachel Brown-Chidsey, Rebekah Bickford, 2015-12-14 This book has been replaced by Practical Handbook of Multi Tiered Systems of Support Second Edition ISBN 978 1 4625 5901 5

Thinking and Acting Systemically Alan Daly, Kara Finnigan, 2016-05-19 This volume argues that districts are important as a lever for change given the limited success of school by school efforts Policies that focus on skill development recognize and support performance create opportunities for collaboration build leader capacity and create networks of knowledge sharing hold great potential for improving districts but it will require a paradigm shift in the way we view our public school system and those who work within it away from blame and toward complex systems change Driving Demand for Broadband Networks and Services Raul L. Katz, Taylor A.

Berry, 2014-06-21 This book examines the reasons why various groups around the world choose not to adopt broadband services and evaluates strategies to stimulate the demand that will lead to increased broadband use. It introduces readers to the benefits of higher adoption rates while examining the progress that developed and emerging countries have made in stimulating broadband demand. By relying on concepts such as a supply and demand gap, broadband price elasticity, and demand promotion, this book explains differences between the fixed and mobile broadband demand gap, introducing the notions of substitution and complementarity between both platforms. Building on these concepts, Driving Demand for Broadband Networks and Services offers a set of best practices and recommendations aimed at promoting broadband demand. The broadband demand gap is defined as individuals and households that could buy a broadband subscription because they live in areas served by telecommunications carriers but do not do so because of either economic limited awareness or lack of digital literacy reasons. This grouping represents a range from 30% of the population in the US, 40% in Germany, and over 80% in most emerging countries. Research indicates that broadband usage is critical for social development, economic performance, and overall welfare, and so it behoves governments to encourage demand. This study is the first of its kind to address the demand side of broadband diffusion, incorporating an economic analysis while offering real world examples of policies and initiatives that have successfully spurred demand in developed and emerging markets alike. This book is intended for policy makers, managers of telecommunications and other technology companies, as well as academics and graduate students in the areas of public policy, economic development, and technology management. This book is an eye opener for policy makers. Traditionally, ICT policy has focused on the supply side. Katz and Berry develop great ideas to leapfrog Internet penetration from the demand side where the value of the Internet is. Diego Molano Vega, Minister of Information Technologies and Communications of Colombia. This book is an instant classic. It brilliantly and convincingly lays out the case why dealing with inadequate internet penetration has moved from the creation of supply to one of encouraging demand. It provides an information rich and well written presentation of the factors holding back people from becoming users and offers a hugely valuable survey of the various programs around the world to make the broadband internet truly useful to people everywhere. It is the kind of book writers in this field will use constantly. Eli Noam, Professor of Finance and Economics, Columbia Business School. This new study by Katz and Berry examines the rationale for national broadband plans and the evidence for their success in driving demand. It presents the latest data on broadband in a range of case study countries and provides best practice advice for policy makers and development practitioners. Dr Tim Kelly, Lead ICT Policy Specialist, World Bank. Paperbound Books in Print, 1992 Arts & Humanities Citation Index, 2001
