The acquisition, storage, retrieval, and dissemination of material is becoming ever more complex and is a process which requires an understanding of how knowledge is perceived by the end user, the mechanics of data transfer, and the principles of responsible information exchange. In addition, the proliferation of information and the variety of media currently available make clear objectives and practical solutions essential. The AGARD Technical Information Panel (TIP) has produced a number of publications aimed at establishing and raising the standard of information management. This Seminar brings together expert speakers to update the information in these publications and to contribute towards the further improvement in basic documentation practices. This Seminar, sponsored by the Technical Information Panel of AGARD, has been implemented by the Consultant and Exchange Programme (ANNOTATION Seminar on Basic Documentation Practices Translation Stinet). A User's Guide to Federal Architect-engineer Contracts James B. Goodowens, 1996 Explains the process by which the US government selects architect-engineering firms to perform design services for it and guides the prospective contractor through the maze of requirements from finding the announcement of available contracts almost but not quite to the Senate subcommittee hearings on grant. Covers how to go after a job, the proposals and negotiations leading to getting it, the administration and recording requirements after the contract is awarded, and the requirements when the project is completed.
