Louis Kahns Situated Modernism:

Louis Kahn's Situated Modernism Sarah Williams Goldhagen, Sarah Goldhagen Williams, Louis I. Kahn, 2001-01-01 She demonstrates instead that Kahn's architecture is grounded in his deeply held modernist political social and artistic ideals which guided him as he sought to rework modernism into a socially transformative architecture appropriate for the postwar world

Berlin Contemporary Julia Walker, 2021-11-18 For years following reunification Berlin was the largest construction site in Europe with striking new architecture proliferating throughout the city in the 1990s and early 2000s Among the most visible and the most contested of the new projects were those designed for the national government and its related functions Berlin Contemporary explores these buildings and plans tracing their antecedents while also situating their iconic forms and influential designers within the spectacular world of global contemporary architecture Close studies of these sites including the Reichstag the Chancellery and the reconstruction of the Berlin Stadtschloss now known as the Humboldt Forum demonstrate the complexity of Berlin's political and architectural rebuilding and reveal the intricate historical negotiations that architecture was summoned to perform

Architecture Post Mortem Donald Kunze, David Bertolini, Simone Brott, 2016-04-15 Architecture Post Mortem surveys architecture's encounter with death decline and ruination following late capitalism As the world moves closer to an economic abyss that many perceive to be the death of capital contraction and crisis are no longer mere phases of normal market fluctuations but rather the irruption of the unconscious of ideology itself Post mortem is that historical moment wherein architecture's symbolic contract with capital is put on stage naked to all Architecture is not irrelevant to fiscal and political contagion as is commonly believed it is the victim and penetrating analytical agent of the current crisis As the very apparatus for modernity's guilt and unfulfilled drives modernity's debt architecture is that ideological element that functions as a master signifier of its own destruction ordering all other signifiers and modes of signification beneath it It is under these conditions that architecture theory has retreated to an Alamo of history a final desert outpost where history has been asked to transcend itself For architecture's hoped for utopia always involves an apocalypse This timely collection of essays reformulates architecture's relation to modernity via the operational death drive architecture is but a passage between life and death This collection includes essays by Kazi K Ashraf David Bertolini Simone Brott Peggy Deamer Didem Ekici Paul Emmons Donald Kunze Todd McGowan Gevork Hartoonian Nadir Lahiji Erika Naginski and Dennis Maher At the Center Casey Nelson Blake, Daniel H. Borus, Howard Brick, 2019-12-03 At a time when American political and cultural leaders asserted that the nation stood at the center of world awareness thinkers and artists sought to understand and secure principles that lay at the center of things From the onset of the Cold War in 1948 through 1963 they asked What defined the essential character of American culture Could permanent moral standards guide human conduct amid the flux and horrors of history In what ways did a stable self emerge through the life cycle Could scientific method rescue truth from error illusion and myth Are there key elements to democracy to the integrity of a society to order in the world Answers to such questions promised intellectual and moral stability in an age haunted by the memory of world war and the possibility of future devastation on an even greater scale Yet other key figures rejected the search for a center asserting that freedom lay in the dispersion of cultural energies and the plurality of American experiences In probing the centering impulse of the era At the Center offers a unique perspective on the United States at the pinnacle of its power Kenosis Creativity Architecture Randall S. Lindstrom, 2021-03-21 Kenosis Creativity Architecture locates and explores creativity's grounding in the ancient concept of kenosis the emptying that allows creativity to happen that makes appearance possible It concretises that grounding through architecture a primal expression of human creativity critically examining for the first time kenotic instantiations evidenced in four iconic international projects works by Kahn Pei Ando and Libeskind Then in a final turn the potentiality of architecture's own emptying is probed Architect and author Randall Lindstrom draws on Western and Eastern philosophy including that of Heidegger Levinas Derrida Vattimo Nishida and Nishitani as well as on the theology of Christianity Judaism and aspects of Buddhism Hinduism and Islam Every chapter expands the argument that if responsiveness to our world is taken seriously if proper and sustainable responses are to be realised then a deeper understanding of creativity and so kenosis is essential This book opens up a way of thinking about creativity and humanity's readiness to be creative It thereby presents a crucial enquiry at the nexus of architecture philosophy and theology for researchers graduate and postgraduate students and practitioners alike Louis Kahn Mateo Kries, Jochen Eisenbrand, Stanislaus von Moos, 2012 The American architect Louis Kahn 1901-1974 is regarded as one of the great master builders of the twentieth century With complex spatial compositions an elemental formal vocabulary and a choreographic mastery of light Kahn created buildings of archaic beauty As the first comprehensive publication on this architect in 20 years the book Louis Kahn The Power of Architecture presents all of his important projects It includes essays by prominent Kahn experts and an expansive illustrated biography with many new facts and insights about Kahn's life and work In a number of interviews leading architects such as Frank Gehry Renzo Piano Peter Zumthor and Sou Fujimoto underline Kahn's significance in today's architectural discourse. An extensive catalogue of works features original drawings and architectural models from the Kahn archive. The compendium is further augmented by a portfolio of Kahn's travel drawings as well as photographs by Thomas Florschuetz which offer completely new views of the Salk Institute and the Indian Institute of Management.

Disclosing Horizons Nicholas Temple, 2006-11-22. This study examines the influence of perspective on architecture, highlighting how critical historical changes in the representation and perception of space continue to inform the way architects design. Since its earliest developments, perspective was conceived as an exemplary form of representation that served as an ideal model of how everyday existence could be measured and ultimately judged. Temple argues that underlying the symbolic and epistemological meanings of perspective, there prevails a deeply embedded redemptive view of the world that is deemed perfectible. Temple explores this idea through a genealogical investigation of the cultural and philosophical contexts of perspective throughout history, highlighting how these developments influenced architectural thought. This broad historical enquiry is accompanied by a series of case studies of modern or contemporary buildings, each demonstrating a particular affinity with the accompanying historical model of perspective.

A Modernist Museum in Perspective Anthony Alofsin, 2009. This fascinating book is the first critical examination of the East Building, I. M. Pei's celebrated addition to the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C. Distinguished contributors consider this iconic building from various historical vantage points, from the evolution of its design to its place in 20th-century museum architecture. Essays by Neil Harris, Anthony Alofsin, Alona Nitzan Shifan, and R. Jean Legault discuss the building's relationship to the city of Washington, its critical and public reception, and the special nature of its use of materials. Barry Bergdoll and David Brownlee compare it to contemporary works by Marcel Breuer, Edward Larrabee Barnes, and other modernists. Victoria Newhouse, Marc Treib, Barnabas Calder, and Andrew Saint consider it in the context of museum architecture, exploring the relationship between art installations and museum design, museum additions by other well-known architects, and the challenges of building and supporting an art museum outside a major metropolitan area. Drawings, models, and photographs provide a visual history of the building's development. Published by the National Gallery of Art Center for Advanced Study in the Visual Arts. Distributed by Yale University Press.

Louis I. Kahn Klaus-Peter Gast, Louis I. Kahn, 1999. 1999 is the twenty-fifth anniversary of Louis Kahn's death. In the second half of the twentieth century, Louis Kahn's designs took on enormous significance for international architecture. Kahn belonged to that generation of architects which perfected and simultaneously surpassed Modernism. Most of Kahn's projects were realised in the USA, and several large projects were built in Asia. From Kahn's early work to larger projects such as the National Capital of Bangladesh in Dhaka and the Kimbell Art Museum in Fort Worth, the documented works all illustrate the human aspect in Kahn's work.
