Maths Gradea12 June 2014:

Leading Change in Your School Douglas B. Reeves, 2009-04-14 Guiding schools through significant change is one of the toughest challenges educational leaders face but learning from the examples of those who have succeeded can make it less daunting In Leading Change in Your School distinguished author and researcher Douglas B Reeves offers lessons learned through his work with educators in thousands of schools around the world and presents real life examples of leaders who have met the challenge of change head on with impressive results for their schools and districts Readers will also find practical resources for engaging their colleagues in change initiatives Expanding on a number of his columns in the journal Educational Leadership Reeves offers insights ad recommendations in four areas Creating conditions for change including assessments to determine personal and organizational readiness for change Planning change including cautionary notes about strategic planning Implementing change including the importance of moving from rhetoric to day to day reality and Sustaining change including the need to reorient priorities and values so that individual convenience gives way to a shared sense of the greater good The change leaders both teachers and administrators whose stories Reeves tells come from varied districts but they share a passion for creating schools that work for all students They are Reeves says people like you sharing similar challenges but perhaps with different results

Contemporary Research and Perspectives on Early Childhood Mathematics Education Iliada Elia, Joanne Mulligan, Ann Anderson, Anna Baccaglini-Frank, Christiane Benz, 2018-02-21 This book brings together a collection of research based papers on current issues in early childhood mathematics education that were presented in the Topic Study Group 1 TSG 1 at the 13th International Congress on Mathematical Education ICME 13 held at the University of Hamburg in 2016 It will help readers understand a range of key issues that early childhood mathematics educators encounter today Research on early childhood mathematics education has grown in recent years due in part to the well documented positive relation between children s early mathematical knowledge and their later mathematics learning and to the considerable emphasis many countries are now placing on preschool education The book addresses a number of central questions including What is mathematical structural development and how can we promote it in early childhood How can multimodality and embodiment contribute to early mathematics learning and to acquiring a better understanding of young children s mathematical development How can children s informal mathematics related experiences affect instruction and children s learning in different mathematics content areas What is the role of tools including technology and picture books in supporting early mathematics learning What are the challenges in early childhood mathematics education for teachers education and professional development

A scholarly contribution to educational praxis M.A. Mokoena, J.M. (Ona) Janse van Rensburg, M. Erasmus, E. Mentz, C.B. Zulu, A. Cronje, E.K. Materechera, W.T. Dudu, A.T. Kanyimba, S.P. Raath, C. Kruger, A. Loubser, A.E. Pienaar, A. Klopper, S. Ellis, N.T. Petersen, J. de Beer, J. Varughese, A. Seugnet Blignaut, C. Els, 2016-12-31 This publication contains original research targeting scientific specialists in the field of education through research endeavours grounded on a philosophical basis as well as being embedded in the empirical The research methodology of each chapter emanates from applicable philosophical assumptions in the form of an applicable theoretical and conceptual framework The latter forms a firm basis for the application of sound empiricism The content of this book adds to the body of scholarly knowledge in education In his evaluation of the book Acting Executive Dean Faculty of Education and Training Professor Akpovire Oduaran made the following remarks To a large extent the ideas put together in this book have come from data generated not just from literature found in books and journals but actual interactions with educators and the learning environment So then what the reader is offered in this volume is the articulation of ideas that have been interrogated structured and presented in surprisingly simplistic and yet incisive and academically enriching content that can match the standards of scholarship that is available in the Western World Yet what makes this book so welcome relevant and timely is the fact that it is built around Afrocentric theories and practices such as one may find in imported literature

Frontiers in the Acquisition of Literacy Claire M. Fletcher-Flinn, 2015-09-28 Learning to read and to spell are two of the most important cultural skills that must be acquired by children and for that matter anyone learning a second language We are not born with an innate ability to read A reading system of mental representations that enables us to read must be formed in the brain Learning to read in alphabetic orthographies is the acquisition of such a system which links mental representations of visual symbols letters in print words with pre existing phonological sound and semantic comprehension cognitive systems for language Although spelling draws on the same representational knowledge base and is usually correlated with reading the acquisition processes involved are not quite the same Spelling requires the sequential production of letters in words and at beginning levels there may not be a full degree of integration of phonology with its representation by the orthography Reading on the other hand requires only the recognition of a word for pronunciation Hence spelling is more difficult than reading and learning to spell may necessitate more complete representations or more conscious access to them The learning processes that children use to acquire such cognitive systems in the brain and whether these same processes are universal across different languages and orthographies are central theoretical questions Most children learn to read and spell their language at the same time thus the co ordination of these two facets of literacy acquisition needs explication as well as the effect of different teaching approaches on acquisition Lack of progress in either reading and or spelling is also a major issue of concern for parents and teachers necessitating a cross disciplinary approach to the problem encompassing major efforts from researchers in neuroscience cognitive science experimental psychology and education The purpose of this Research Topic is to summarize and review what has been accomplished so far and to further explore these general issues Contributions from different perspectives are welcomed and could include theoretical computational and empirical works that focus on the acquisition of literacy including cross orthographic research
