Primary Teaching Catherine Carden, 2018-11-24 When learning to teach practical experience in the classroom is as essential as learning from others and being able to reflect on your own learning and performance Equally important is the ability to critically evaluate learning and teaching This new extensive core text from Learning Matters tackles questions like What drives schools and what challenges them What can we learn from other countries Does curriculum really matter How do teachers manage behaviour How do I prove that my children are learning What does mastery really look like Discussing these and many more it comprehensively covers professional studies modules and goes beyond to support trainees on placements and in their learning on the course Learning features throughout have been designed to help students develop their understanding broaden their perspectives think more critically and apply theory to practice These include Case Studies to apply learning to real life school contexts Key Readings to encourage wider reading broaden perspectives and offer practical ideas for the classroom Key Theory features introduce and summarise big ideas theories and research Critical Questions direct reflection help students engage with what their reading and encourage critical responses Classroom Links highlight good practice provide practical ideas and show how to implement these in the classroom Assignment features offer helpful points to consider and practical advice for writing assignments on chapter topics which act as great starting points

The Datafication of Primary and Early Years

Education Alice Bradbury, Guy Roberts-Holmes, 2017-10-02 The Datafication of Primary and Early Years Education explores and critically analyses the growing dominance of data in schools and early childhood education settings Recognising the shift in practice and priorities towards the production and analysis of attainment data that are compared locally nationally and internationally this important book explores the role and impact of digital data in the data obsessed school Through insightful case studies the book critiques policy priorities which facilitate and demand the use of attainment data within a neoliberal education system which is already heavily focused on assessment and accountability Using an approach influenced by policy sociology and post foundational frameworks the book considers how data are productive of data driven teacher and child subjectivities The text explores how data have become an important part of making teachers work visible within systems which are both disciplinary and controlling while often reducing the complexity of children s learning to single numbers Key ideas covered include The impact of data on the individual teacher and their pedagogical practice particularly in play based early years classrooms The problems of collecting data through assessment of young children How schools respond to increased pressure to produce the right data or how they play with numbers How data affect children and teachers identities International governance and data comparison including international comparison of young children s attainment Private sector involvement in data processing and analysis The Datafication of Primary and Early Years Education offers a unique insight into the links between data policy and practice and is a crucial read for all interested in the ways in which data are affecting teachers practitioners and children

Support Not Surveillance: How to solve the teacher retention crisis Mary Boustead, 2022-04-08 Why are so many teachers leaving the profession increasingly early in their careers What harm is being done to pupils educational prospects by persistent teacher shortages Why are teachers held uniquely responsible for the effects of poverty on children s progress and attainment What are the unintended consequences of rushed government education policy making And what can be done about all of the above Supported by the latest international and national evidence Support Not Surveillance seeks to address these important questions Laying bare how the inadequacy of Westminster policies is compounded by an unfair Ofsted inspection regime Dr Mary Boustead draws on her years of expertise and access to decision makers to expose the gap between ministerial rhetoric and the daily reality encountered by teachers in their classrooms across England Ending on a set of proposals to move beyond the seemingly perennial crisis in teacher recruitment and retention Support Not Surveillance is an unflinching call to end the failed experiment of government interventionism in classrooms
