Professors explore ghostly history

By FAITH HUG,
fhug@luc.edu

Ghosts are naturally elusive in their ways for us and transcend our configurations. Some fear their vengeful intentions, others call on them for advice while few can escape their cartoonish appearance in Halloween decorations leaving their lairs.

Loyola professors discussed the ideologies and traditions that have shaped our nation between the spiritual and earthly realms throughout world history.

Faith James Hug, an associate professor of philosophy, presented to ancient Greek philosophers about the disembodied soul as a foundation for ghost concepts throughout history.

"There are things to us that are composed by metaphysical things: ideas, culture, music, art, knowledge, that kind of stuff," Hugley said. "If there's something to us that's touched by those things, well then that thing wherever it is in, not where it's material."

Associate Professor of History Terence Gross-Diaz said contemporary understandings of ghosts are shaped by ancient Greek Roman, Germanic and Celtic beliefs combined with medieval Christian theology.

Loyola hosts protest rights panel

By MADYSON SZCZYHORSKI, mszczyh@luc.edu

Loyola's Blackboard Analyzing IDEAS hosted the Know Your Rights Panel Student Activism event Oct. 24 in coordination with the university's Center for Diversity and Inclusion. The event sought to give students both the empowerment and knowledge to grow their activism while simultaneously protecting their individual rights as people.

The event was held in Damen Hall 18 South and included four key speakers with different areas of expertise. The first was from outside the Loyola community, Daniel Williams, the director of the Civil Rights Clinic at Ford Defence Legal Aid. First Defense Legal Aid is a Chicago based organization providing legal services to communities that are over-policed.

From within the Blackboard community was WCLL Rodriguez, dean of students. Healy University is located in the Department of Theology, and Daniel Williams, president of the Student Government of Loyola Chicago.

Blackboard Analyzing IDEAS is an organization within the Center for Diversity and Inclusion that serves to give students the resources to engage in activism. Healy University is an organization composed of student leaders, called Ideators, who help coordinate workshops and events to foster empowerment and development for activating and continuing activists.

Williams began the informational session of the event by giving a presentation on WCLL, highlighting their mission and providing information on the responsibilities of such boards of students. He also discussed the importance of student voices, not just within WCLL, but ensuring the broader student body population knows WCLL is a valuable resource to turn to when they have concerns.

"We are always looking for ways to continue growing the media of students," Williams said. "We always encourage students to come to us and work with us. We do our best to be accessible to the student body."

The event then moved into the panel portion where students were encouraged to ask questions about their rights as activists, specifically within the lines of Loyola policies. All of the panelists were able to answer the questions.

The conversations focused heavily on the changes to policies within the Community Standards Handbook that went into effect this year. The changes introduced restrictions on how students can protest. The panelists expressed how they plan to work on the West Quad and within the house of 11 to 15.

Williams provided legal advice on how to protect protesting as students could better understand what rights they have, and to what extent they're applicable in certain situations — specifically the House of 11 to 15 as it applies to freedom of speech and assembly.

Local co-op hosts Harvest Fest

By MAO REYNOLDS,
mreynolds@luc.edu

Their huge and waxy are as warm as the apple cider in their hands. But that's not all. It's also catching up the coffee or family members at a reunion — they're shoppers and workers at Wild Onion Market, greeting each other on the streets of the city's first annual Harvest Festival.

The festival, held on a sunny but brisk Saturday, Oct. 26, highlighted the Wild Onion Market's mission to produce and encourage customers to strengthen their place in the Rogers Park community. Free samples from local vendors adorned each corner of the street as staff placed a tent outside the entrance for children to color miniature pumpkins.

Wild Onion, a grocery store located at 2807 N. Clark St., is run as a co-op or cooperative group of community members. After 30 years of organizing and planning, the co-op finally opened from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, October 26, according to founder, owner and board member Mary Meyer.

Meyer said the event aimed to attract more interest in the store. "We still need a lot of community support," Meyer said. "We want the Loyola community to join us. The invitation is out for all the community members to join us because that's how co-ops are successful."

Senior Day shutout for women's soccer

By RANIA WOODWARD,
rwoodward@luc.edu

Loyola women's soccer handily defeated St. Bonaventure University 4-0 at Home Park Oct. 27. The team's senior players were looking to support the fourth-year and graduates on Senior Day.

Seniors opened the match with a cross from graduate midfielder Olivia Rhoden into St. Bonaventure's box, where it was cleared away by Bonaventure defenders.

Four minutes later, St. Bonaventure second-year midfielder Mikha Melnikov scored a long ball from her defense. Melnikov ended up in an encounter with Loyola's first-year goalkeeper Alissa Greenwood, but Greenwood blocked the shot.

Nine minutes into the game, second-year forward Jody Harris drilled her way down the field and delivered a strong cross to redshirt first-year forward Emily Bown. The ball was blocked and headed back up the pitch by the Bonnies.

The 15th minute included shots from St. Bonaventure first-year midfielder forward from in front of the goal. Greenwood over the net. Green's clearance about eight minutes later, but the ball remained on the ground and Greenwood was able to collect it.

Loyola managed to get a shot off in the 15th minute from Rhoden, but the ball went well over the goal and out of bounds.

Fourth-year midfielder Jody Harris ended the match open in the 18th minute. After receiving a pass into the box from Harris, Ciliberto connected with the ball, placing it securely in the right corner of the net for her fourth goal of the season.
