Questions 5-8

The choice over of the poem opens with the attitude of younger generations who have been raised among the European and American modernization of the expansion of African culture and thought. Along the way of modernization and the poem offers to the youngsters, "We had their language for their own language". "We had their language" is used by the poet to symbolize of foreign culture which have been deep into the minds of the new generation. Apart from that, parents influence their modern people to forget everything about their roots of life and culture, including the "new thought" which represents modern thought. It is extremely sad because that the new age can emotionally feel with modernization and culture as they are in search of modern thought and culture.

They speak for new song

And their new nation

Behind their new nation and thought

What are most for the nation of the new

Based on the above translation (line 1), the younger generation who have been raised have forgotten about the meaning of the modern world. Hence they glorify the modern thought.
