Caribbean Without Borders Gabriel J. Jiménez Fuentes, Gabriel Mejía González, Marisol Joseph Haynes, 2015-09-04 One of the most salient issues in Caribbean studies is the region's linguistic and cultural fragmentation as a result of European colonization More than five centuries later the islands and American countries whose shores touch the Caribbean Sea still echo such maladies The title of this book is a call towards unity a unity that in the words of Barbadian poet historian and critic Kamau Brathwaite is submarine In the past nations borders were established based on the distance a cannon ball was able to cover when fired from land out to sea It is time to go beyond the cannon ball distances out into uncharted territories beyond the canon and thus beyond the cannon's range This book features a selection of essays presented at the fifth annual Caribbean Without Borders conference at the University of Puerto Rico Río Piedras It critically delves into the fields of linguistics history literature philosophy politics feminism cultural studies music film and art among many others as a means to re visit re view re envision re read re interpret and thus re create a Caribbean aesthetics that looks to submarine unity a unity that defies spatial temporal and social borders The book conveys the limitless nature of the Caribbean and its rich culture making it an appealing transdisciplinary source for a multidisciplinary academic audience

Literary Activism Amit Chaudhuri, 2018-02-15 Literary Activism revisits and interrogates and looks to renew the force of the literary It s a movement that emerges from a radically altered landscape for both publishing and academia where what Amit Chaudhuri calls market activism has effected changes on language on the measuring of value on the concept of influence in ways we struggle to recognise Encompassing the perspectives of the writer critic translator academic and publisher the essays in this volume follow no single line of enquiry Rather they offer the beginnings of an analysis of the literary world at a certain moment of globalisation while also questioning whether a literary world exists and if it does where its boundaries lie The collection moves in many directions from Arun Kolatkar and his near heroic refusal of both marketplace and reputation to Derek Attridge who argues for a form of affirmative criticism which positions the critic as a lover of the text while from Amsterdam Dubravka Ugre i reflects on life in a literary out of nation zone adrift in a territory where intellectual protest has been stripped of ideological impetus and subsumed by the voraciousness of the market Taken together these essays initiate a series of conversations about who reads what and why about the practice of writing and criticism at this particular contemporary moment and about the activities and institutions that shape an understanding of what literature is and what it can do

Writing-between-Worlds Ottmar Ette, 2016-02-22 This book proposes that there is no better no more complex way to access a community a society an era and its cultures than through literature For millennia literature from a wide variety of geocultural areas has gathered knowledge about life about survival and about living together without either falling into discursive or disciplinary specializations or functioning as a regulatory mechanism for cultural knowledge Literature is able to offer its readers knowledge through direct participation in the form of step by step intellectual and affective experiences Through this ability it can reach and affect audiences across great spatial and temporal distances Literature what different times and cultures have been able to understand as such in a broad sense has always been characterized by its transareal and transcultural origins and effects It is the product of many logics and it teaches us to think polylogically rather than monologically Literature is an experiment in living and living in a state of experimentation About the author Ottmar Ette has been Chair of Romance Literature at the University of Potsdam Germany since 1995 He is Honorary Member of the Modern Language Association of America MLA elected in 2014 member of the Berlin Brandenburg Academy of Sciences and Humanities elected in 2013 and regular member of the Academia Europaea since 2010

Alternative Orientalisms in Latin America and Beyond Ignacio López-Calvo, 2007 Orientalism is widely known as the study of Eastern cultures by Western intellectuals Yet most people would associate this term with scholars from France England Germany and the United States This book presents along with new essays dealing with the United States the Islamic world and the Far East alternative views on Orientalism this time also coming from Latin America and other regions While still dealing in some cases with interpretations of the East by Western outsiders the fact that the cultural production analyzed as well as many of the critics comes from an area Latin America that has also been affected by European and U S imperialism and colonialism brings new light to the traditionally negative connotations ascribed to the term These essays reveal that though prejudice and racism are still prevalent in many Orientalist aesthetic practices coming from Latin America and other world regions the perspective can also be radically different From this perspective rather than constructing the Orient as the West TM s alien and inferior other the mirror image that appears in this book constitutes an attempt at understanding the Asian within us within the Western world The postcolonial approach of many of these essays is the theoretical framework that prevents or at least tries to prevent paternalistic or hegemonic representations of the Asian subject As a result the emphasis is often placed on transculturation hybridity liminality double consciousness and cultural identity
