Are you safe online? Whether playing online games with friends or joining in "_____" on social media, you might meet strangers every day. However, online chat rooms and "_____" messages also contain cybercriminals. They hide behind avatars to trick you into giving out personal "_____", which they later use to steal your identity and "_____". This fraud is called "phishing". Don't forget that people online may not be who they say they are. Even if someone "_____", sounds or acts like a person of your age, they may be tricking you. "_____" be cautious and never give out any personal info, even to "known" friends. This includes anything from "_____" and location, to online login info. It's impossible to avoid the Internet and the digital world it opens up, but it is possible to keep secure and avoid "_____".
