Judith Ortiz Cofer in the Classroom Carol Jago,2006 Carol Jago offers ways to teach the works of Judith Ortiz Cofer in the high school English classroom In an era of increasing emphasis on standardized testing it can be difficult to add the works of new authors to the high school English curriculum But what if reading the poetry and fiction of Judith Ortiz Cofer or the writing of other multicultural authors engaged your students in such deep reading and writing that their scores went through the roof In this practical guide Carol Jago argues that the curriculum should embrace all kinds of literature because such a curriculum keeps students both engaged and challenged The writing of Puerto Rican American poet essayist and novelist Judith Ortiz Cofer appeals to students of all ethnicities because it speaks to a universal effort to balance the demands of self home and broader culture This short readable and practical guide to teaching her work includes several of Cofer's poems many examples of student writing some modeled on Cofer's poetry and some in response to her fiction guidance on standards based literary analysis a rubric for evaluating the reflective essay and an interview with Cofer by Ren e Shea Writing like Cofer's which reflects students lives no matter what their primary culture draws adolescents into literature and pushes them outside the zone of minimal effort as they more willingly develop their reading writing and critical thinking
