Legends From River And Mountain 1896:

Legends from River and Mountain Alma Strettell, Carmen Sylva, 2020-09-28 There is in Roumania a group of mountains named the Bucegi group Among these the two peaks of Jipi tower aloft close together as though gazing defiantly at one another and between them the Urlatoare or roaring stream dashes down a cloud like waterfall into the valley below and storms onward over every barrier towards the town of Prahova They say that long long ago the Jipi were twin brothers who loved each other so well that one could not live without the other or eat a mouthful of bread the other did not share nay more that when one was asked a question the other answered it and that when one did himself some hurt the other wept and would not be comforted They were as fair as morning and evening as slender and straight as lances as swift as arrows as strong as young bears The mother who had borne them looked upon them with pride and joy and would say as she stroked their curly heads Andrei and Mirea my beautiful sons may your fame become so great that even the stones shall discourse of it They were of noble blood and dwelt in a castle upon a lofty crag where they lorded it as though the whole world belonged to them They often jestingly declared that they should have to wed one wife only between them since they were sure never to find two quite alike and that the best plan would be for them never to wed at all But of this their mother would not hear for she longed to cradle her sons sons upon her knee and sing them lullabies She would often sing the ancient lays of their country to her boys of an evening while she sat spinning and the noble lads hung fondly about her Andrei would kneel at her feet while Mirea leant upon the arm of her chair and drew in the sweet scent of the heavy dark braids that shone lustrous through her delicate white veil *General Catalogue of the Public Library of Detroit, Mich. English Responses to French Poetry 1880-1940 Jennifer Higgins,2017-12-02 Between 1880 and 1940 English responses to French poetry evolved from marginalised expressions of admiration associated with rebellion against the establishment to mainstream mutual exchange and appreciation The translation of poetry underwent a simultaneous evolution from attempts to produce definitive renderings to definitions of translation as an ongoing generative process at the centre of literary debate This study traces the impact of French poetry in England via a wide range of translations by major poets of the time as well as renderings by now forgotten writers It explores poetry and translations beyond the limits of the usual canon and identifies key moments of influence from late 19th century English homages to Victor Hugo as a liberal icon to Ezra Pound re interpreting Charles Baudelaire for the 20th century
