King's ransom 400 years ago this treasure would have been priceless Today like other spices it is universally available all over the globe and anybody considering pepper priceless like his ancestors used to do is either living in a remote area with no access to a grocery store or mall or does not know about pepper So for all those people want to know all about why this spice was considered to be the best ransom for kings and emperors by Roman conquerors here is a bit about its history The pepper is supposed to have originated in the South of India especially in the Tamil Nadu region where it was called pippali In ancient times the ships loaded with peppercorns were collected from areas like Tuticorin Chettinad Madurai the Malabar coast in Kerala and Kanya Kumari Cape Comorin and sent all over the globe Of course the Romans considered this to be a great addition to their cuisine and even Pliny the great historian of ancient times made sure that he spoke awarded pepper in his gastronomical delicacies gathered for posterity He was dismayed with the fact that India drained the Roman Empire of 50 million sesterces every year with her different spices of which pepper played a very prominent role Black pepper which is commonly called as Millagu in the local Tamil vernacular was of course an integral part of all the cuisines of this area So they tell a tale about a Tamil cook having to feed a hungry British officer So he mixed up pepper and water and made mulligan tanni literally pepper water which has been immortalized as mulligatawny in Anglo Indian cuisine Pepper was introduced to South Asia somewhere around about 4000 years ago when it started to be cultivated extensively in Indonesia Borneo Java and Sumatra The word pep comes from adding the missing zing or pepper to your spirit so when pep talks are peppered with lots of moralizing and lecturing they can spice up the proceedings really well Many of the wars in the medieval times in Europe were caused to gain complete power and access to the trade routes to India That is why the Dutch the Portuguese and the British kept asking their soldiers and navigators and explorers to look for easier ways to get access to shipping routes to places where they could get spices It is said that when Vasco da Gama reached Calicuta the traders asked him what he was looking for Christians and spices was his answer He started up the trade route for Portugal to India but that soon was taken over by the British
