Mathematics Paper 1 September 2013 Memo:

Studies in Intelligence, 2016      Disorder and the Disinformation Society Jonathan Paul Marshall, James Goodman, Didar Zowghi, Francesca da Rimini, 2015-04-17 This book is the first general social analysis that seriously considers the daily experience of information disruption and software failure within contemporary Western society Through an investigation of informationalism defined as a contemporary form of capitalism it describes the social processes producing informational disorder While most social theory sees disorder as secondary pathological or uninteresting this book takes disordering processes as central to social life The book engages with theories of information society which privilege information order offering a strong counterpoint centred on disinformation Disorder and the Disinformation Society offers a practical agenda arguing that difficulties in producing software are both inherent to the process of developing software and in the social dynamics of informationalism It outlines the dynamics of software failure as they impinge on of information workers and on daily life explores why computerized finance has become inherently self disruptive asks how digital enclosure and intellectual property create conflicts over cultural creativity and disrupt informational accuracy and scholarship and reveals how social media can extend but also distort the development of social movements      Show Me the Evidence Ron Haskins, Greg Margolis, 2014-12-01 The first comprehensive history of the Obama administration s evidence based initiatives From its earliest days the Obama administration planned and enacted several initiatives to fund social programs based on rigorous evidence of success Ron Haskins and Greg Margolis tell the story of six spanning preschool and K 12 education teen pregnancy employment and training health and community based programs Readers will appreciate the fast moving descriptions of the politics and policy debates that shaped these federal programs and the analysis of whether they will truly reshape federal social policy and greatly improve its impacts on the nation s social problems Based on interviews with 134 individuals including advocates officials at the Office of Management and Budget and the Domestic Policy Council Congressional staff and officials in the federal agencies administering the initiatives as well as Congressional and administration documents and news accounts the authors examine each of the six initiatives in separate chapters The story of each initiative includes a review of the social problem the initiative addresses the genesis and enactment of the legislation that authorized the initiative and the development of the procedures used by the administration to set the evidence standard and evaluation requirements including the requirements for grant applications and awarding of grants      Hitting Probabilities for Nonlinear Systems of Stochastic Waves Robert C. Dalang, Marta Sanz-Solé, 2015-08-21 The authors consider a  $d$  dimensional random field  $u(u, t, x)$  that solves a non linear system of stochastic wave equations in spatial dimensions  $k = 1, 2, 3$  driven by a spatially homogeneous Gaussian noise that is white in time They mainly consider the case where the spatial covariance is given by a Riesz kernel with exponent Using Malliavin calculus they establish upper and lower bounds on the probabilities that the random field visits a deterministic subset of  $\mathbb{R}^d$  in terms respectively of Hausdorff measure and

Newtonian capacity of this set The dimension that appears in the Hausdorff measure is close to optimal and shows that when  $d \geq 2k+1$  points are polar for  $u$  Conversely in low dimensions  $d$  points are not polar There is however an interval in which the question of polarity of points remains open
