Mind-body medicine and its impacts on psychological networks, quality of life, and health, volume II Steffen Schulz, Georg Johannes Seifert, Dirk Cysarz, Frauke Musial, 2025-09-10 Living conditions in industrialized countries have led to a significant increase in life expectancy in recent decades Likewise the proportion of chronic diseases is growing This includes cardiovascular diseases chronic pain inflammatory bowel diseases and cancer Unfavorable lifestyle factors such as accumulative stress lack of exercise and poor nutrition compounded by a persistent imbalance between exertion and recovery lead to the manifestation and chronification of disease. A fundamental awareness of the connection between our mind, emotions, lifestyle, and health has grown. Understanding of body and mind interaction is increasing. The high clinical relevance is also supported and confirmed by evidence. Out of this field of research, mind-body medicine (MBM) has developed. MBM targets the interplay of body, mind, emotions, and behavior, extending to the regulation of vegetative physiological signaling pathways.

Safety and Efficacy of Gene-Based Therapeutics for Inherited Disorders Nicola Brunetti-Pierri, 2017-05-22. In this book, leading international experts analyze state-of-the-art advances in gene transfer vectors for applications in inherited disorders and also examine the toxicity profiles of these methods. The authors discuss the strengths and weaknesses of available vectors in the clinical setting and specifically focus on the challenges and possible solutions that researchers are testing in order to improve the safety of gene therapy for genetic diseases. This comprehensive and authoritative overview of vector development is a necessary text for researchers, toxicologists, pharmacologists, molecular biologists, physicians, and students in these fields.

Transplantation Immunology Fritz H. Bach, Hugh Auchincloss, 1995-08-18. Transplantation Immunology Edited by Fritz H. Bach, M.D. and Hugh Auchincloss, Jr., M.D. In recent years, transplantation immunology has evolved as a distinct field founded on the recognition that rejection of a transplanted organ or tissue is mediated by immune mechanisms in the host responding to antigens in the donor tissue. This book provides a comprehensive up-to-date review of current knowledge regarding the specific immune mechanisms which can cause recipients to reject clinical transplants. The text is divided into four sections: Major and Minor Histocompatibility Antigens, Immunobiology of Graft Rejection, Clinical Transplantation, and Frontiers in Transplantation. The first two sections cover present-day understanding of the genetic controls of immunity as well as the two basic concerns of transplantation immunology: namely, donor tissue antigens and the host cellular response. The third section deals with clinical aspects of transplantation, while the fourth looks toward future efforts of scientific research in this field, including advances in tolerance and xenotransplantation. A detailed appendix entitled Molecular Biology for the Clinician is included to help make the material accessible to readers of all backgrounds. Authored by a wide range of experts in both clinical and research fields, individual chapters cover such topics as T cell immunity, Antigen presentation, Alloreactivity, Pancreas and islet cell transplantation, Allogeneic bone marrow transplantation, Models of tolerance induction, Xenotransplantation, The swine leukocyte antigen (SLA) complex. Transplantation Immunology is an ideal teaching text for the fundamental concepts, latest findings, and future directions in this increasingly important field. This volume will appeal to a wide range of clinicians, including surgeons and primary care physicians, as well as scientists in molecular biology and immunology.
