

The Wonderful Wizard of Oz [2]

By Tim Kelly

Female | Young Adults 20's, Adults 30-40's, Mature 50's | Duration: 1-2 minutes

About the play: The Wizard of Oz is perhaps the most popular children's story ever written, and here's a version that's very simple and economical to stage. This version is exceptionally well-suited for multi-aged groups, with younger cast members playing any number of Munchkins, poppy flowers and winged monkeys. A cyclone carries Dorothy and her dog, Toto, to the magical land of Oz, where they encounter all the famous characters from the pen of L. Frank Baum... the Cowardly Lion, the Tin Woodsman, the rubber-legged Scarecrow, Glinda the Good Witch and the evil Witch of the West, who is determined to destroy Dorothy and steal the secret of the silver slippers. The play is filled with wonderful stage thrills... like the escape from the dark forest of the Fighting Trees. And we don't want to forget the awesome and funny meetings with the great Oz himself. Eventually Dorothy defeats the evil witch, finds a way to return to Kansas, and her companions have their wishes granted.

Time: Present day

The scene: The Wicked Witch's winged monkeys have captured the Cowardly Lion and Dorothy. Now, they work for the Wicked Witch, cleaning and doing her bidding while she tries to devise a plot to obtain the silver slippers from Dorothy. Here, the Wicked Witch comes up with a plan to conjure an invisible iron bar that no one can see so that Dorothy will trip over it, and the shoes will be hers. The spell that is used to conjure this invisible bar is, indeed, quite comical.

Wicked Witch : I must get those shoes, those pretty silver slippers. With them, I shall be the most powerful Wicked Witch in the world, but because Glinda the Good handed them to ...

(The middle section of this monologue has been omitted for preview purposes.)

... I stand on both feet. (She does, recites.) "Ziz-zy, zuz-zy, zik! Ziz-zy, zuz-zy, zik!" (Looks at floor, CENTER.) Ahhh, a fine invisible bar of iron. Good, good.
