minimal account of the interrelation between semantics and pragmatics. Specifically, it holds that while context can affect literal semantic content in the case of genuine i.e. lexically or syntactically marked context sensitive expressions, this is the limit of pragmatic input to semantic content. On all other occasions where context of utterance appears to affect content, the minimalist claims that what it affects is not literal semantic content but what the speaker conveys by the use of this literal content: it affects what a speaker says but not what a sentence means. As Borg makes clear, the minimalist must allow some contextual influence on semantic content but her claim is that this influence can be limited to tame pragmatics: the kind of rule governed appeals to context which won't scare formally minded horses. Pursuing Meaning aims to make good on this claim. The book also contains an overview of all the main positions in the area, clarification of its often complex terminology and an exploration of key themes such as word meaning, mindreading and the relationship between semantics and psychology.

We Carry Smoke and Paper Melody S. Gee, 2024-10-15. Answering an unexpected call to faith in her thirties, Melody Gee contends with what saying yes to conversion requires of an adopted daughter of Chinese immigrants. Faced with a new framework for her place in the world, grief and doubt shadow her tentative steps toward becoming a believer. She looks for answers and consolation in her family's story of immigration, trauma and cultural assimilation, in the ways their burdens and limitations made her answer seeking both impossible and inevitable. In essays that explore the parallels between conversion and language acquisition, isolated liturgies, cultural inheritances, stalled initiations, disrupted storytelling and adoption, Gee examines conversion's grief and hope, losses and gains, hauntings and promises. We Carry Smoke and Paper is a memoir about what we owe to those who sacrifice everything for us and it is about the many conversions in a lifetime that turn our heads via whispers and shouts calling us to ourselves.
