May We Be Forgiven A Novel:

May We Be Forgiven A.M. Homes, 2013-09-24 Winner of the Women's Prize and featured on Elin Hilderbrand's New York Times ballot for Best Books of the Century Harold Silver has spent a lifetime watching his younger brother George a taller smarter and more successful high flying TV executive acquire a covetable wife two kids and a beautiful home in the suburbs of New York City But Harry a historian and Nixon scholar also knows George has a murderous temper and when George loses control the result is an act of violence so shocking that both brothers are hurled into entirely new lives in which they both must seek absolution Harry finds himself suddenly playing parent to his brother's two adolescent children tumbling down the rabbit hole of Internet sex dealing with aging parents who move through time like travelers on a fantastic voyage As Harry builds a twenty first century family created by choice rather than biology we become all the more aware of the ways in which our history both personal and political can become our destiny and either compel us to repeat our errors or be the catalyst for change May We Be Forgiven is an unnerving funny tale of unexpected intimacies and of how one deeply fractured family might begin to put itself back together

Reading Contingency David Wylot, 2019-11-25 In Reading Contingency The Accident in Contemporary Fiction David Wylot constructs an innovative study of the relationship between plotted accidents in twenty first century British and American fiction the phenomenology of reading and a contemporary experience of time that is increasingly understood to be contingent and accidental A synthesis of literary and cultural analysis narratology critical theories of time and the philosophy of contingency the book explores the accident's imagination of contemporary time and the relationship between reading and living in novels by writers including A M Homes Nicola Barker Noah Hawley J M Coetzee J G Ballard Jesmyn Ward Jennifer Egan and Tom McCarthy

After Postmodernism Christopher K. Coffman, Theophilus Savvas, 2020-12-17 Several of American literature's most prominent authors and many of their most perceptive critics and reviewers argue that fiction of the last quarter century has turned away from the tendencies of postmodernist writing Yet the nature of that turn and the defining qualities of American fiction after postmodernism remain less than clear This volume identifies four prominent trends of the contemporary scene the recovery of the real a rethinking of historical engagement a preoccupation with materiality and a turn to the planetary Readings of works by various leading figures including Dave Eggers Jonathan Franzen A M Homes Lance Olsen Richard Powers William T Vollmann and David Foster Wallace support a variety of arguments about this recent revitalization of American literature The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Textual Practice

Popularizing Dementia Aagje Swinnen, Mark Schweda, 2015-11-15 How are individual and social ideas of late onset dementia shaped and negotiated in film literature the arts and the media And how can the symbolic forms provided by popular culture be adopted and transformed by those affected in order to express their own perspectives This international and interdisciplinary volume summarizes central current research trends and opens new theoretical and empirical perspectives on dementia in popular culture It includes contributions by internationally renowned scholars from the humanities social and cultural gerontology age ing studies cultural studies philosophy and bioethics Contributions by Lucy Burke Marlene Goldman Annette Leibling and others

The Digital Banal Zara Dinnen, 2018-01-02 Contemporary culture is haunted by its media Yet in their ubiquity digital media have become increasingly banal making it harder for us to register their novelty or the scope of the social changes they have wrought What do we learn about our media environment when we look closely at the ways novelists and filmmakers narrate and depict banal use of everyday technologies How do we encounter our own media use in scenes of waiting for e mail watching eBay bids programming as work and worrying about numbers of social media likes friends and followers Zara Dinnen analyzes a range of prominent contemporary novels films and artworks to contend that we live in the condition of the digital banal not noticing the affective and political novelty of our relationship to digital media Authors like Jennifer Egan Dave Eggers Sheila Heti Jonathan Lethem Gary Shteyngart Colson Whitehead Mark Amerika Ellen Ullman and Danica Novgorodoff and films such as The Social Network and Catfish critique and reveal the ways in which digital labor isolates the individual how the work of programming has become an operation of power and the continuation of the Californian ideology which has folded the radical into the rote and the imaginary into the mundane The works of these writers and artists Dinnen argues also offer ways of resisting the more troubling aspects of the effects of new technologies as well as timely methods for seeing the digital banal as a politics of suppression Bridging the gap between literary studies and media studies The Digital Banal recovers the shrouded disturbances that can help us recognize and antagonize our media environment

May We Be Forgiven A. M. Homes, Harold Silver a Richard Nixon Scholar has spent a lifetime watching his younger taller and more successful brother George But Harry knows that George has a murderous temper and when he finally loses control the result is an act of violence which hurls the two brothers into entirely new lives A savage and dizzyingly inventive vision that penetrates the dark heart of contemporary America to tell a darkly comic tale of twenty first century domestic life and how one deeply fractured family might begin to put itself back together The Story of the Life and Work of Cordelia A. Greene, M. D. Elizabeth Putnam Gordon, 1925
