The Spirit of Leadership Reuel Khoza, 2024-05-01 In 2023 Reuel Khoza unsealed a letter to the future which he had written in 1999 when he was chair of Eskom at the time recognised as the best power utility in the world It was an optimistic letter expressing hopes that have since been dashed by corruption and maladministration by a failure of ethical leadership Khoza has written about leadership before considering the importance of intelligence emotional intelligence and social awareness Now he broadens his focus to explore the role of spirituality a faith quotient in transformational leadership The Spirit of Leadership is about faith in humanity and above all faith in God It is about being an African and a Christian and a strong believer in the virtues of ubuntu Africa's philosophy of humanness It is about ancestral wisdom and modern leadership It is about progress through ethical behaviour and good governance in business Finally it is about innovations of the spirit that are needed to save South Africa and indeed the world from a spiral of despair This is a vital and timely book for a country that needs to rediscover its moral compass Annual Report South Africa. Bibliography of Agriculture, 1976 Improving National Education Systems After COVID-19 Nuno Crato, Harry Anthony Patrinos, 2024-10-14 This open access book compares and analyses the results in twelve countries of the two latest international student assessments Progress in International Reading Literacy Study 2021 PIRLS and the Programme for International Student Assessment 2022 PISA and tries to disentangle the effects of the pandemic from the long term trends in education It is one of the first or maybe the first published volumes to provide a global assessment of the devastating impact of the COVID 19 pandemic on student learning as measured by independent international comparative surveys The 12 countries discussed in this volume represent a wide variety of educational systems including Chile Ecuador England Estonia Italy the Netherlands Poland Portugal South Africa Spain and the United States It compiles diverse scenarios including countries that are high performers countries that perform at the OECD mean and countries that are struggling to attain the OECD average Each country has its history that reflects efforts to cope with pandemic school closures and to improve educational achievement A major topic discussed in this edited volume is related to understanding the diverse circumstances for the variations in results within different countries Why did learning loss in specific locations How much learning was lost Why is a country continuously declining Why is another country constantly improving Why is there higher or less levels of inequality How is a country regularly improving with an outdated curriculum Which policies have worked and which ones have not What can we do now This book is a valuable contribution to answer these concerns based on a diverse sample of countries and research questions Charcoal, Food, and Water Production in the Tropics: Applying Nexus Thinking to Improve Research and Policy Approaches in Complex Landscapes Tuyeni Heita Mwampamba, Adrian Ghilardi, Rob Bailis, 2020-02-04 Editorial Tuyeni H Mwampamba Rob Bailis Adrian Ghilardi Urbanization food and water consumption trends in many tropical countries show that demand for charcoal as a source of cooking energy meat grain and water will rise to proportions that surpass the ability of existing ecosystems to supply these services simultaneously and at desired qualities. Consequently, drastic changes to policy and practice are needed to improve ecosystem potential and/or alter demand trends. Traditional charcoal production in sub-Saharan Africa, South East Asia, and Latin America often competes or co-exists with livestock keeping and agriculture and has a tendency to occur in water-limited woodlands. The co-occurrence of charcoal and food production results in complex landscapes characterized by strong interactions between subsystems managed by multiple sets of actors with potentially competing objectives. These social-ecological systems provide goods and services that are essential to millions of people throughout the global south. Nevertheless, there have been very few detailed studies of such systems, particularly on the individual and combined effects of charcoal crop and livestock production on the hydrological system that maintains them and vice versa. As a result, these multi-use landscapes are typically managed by short-sighted, highly generalized, mono-sectorial policies that ignore important tradeoffs and undercapitalize on synergies. A system-level approach could provide important insights that improve and expand current understanding of this energy-food-water nexus. Tackling urgent and complex problems composed of multiple and interrelated factors lies at the heart of nexus thinking: an approach that examines the inter-relatedness and interdependencies of environmental resources and their transitions and fluxes across spatial scales and between compartments. UNU-FLORES 2015 and relies on interdisciplinary research and multi-sector policy teams. It has attracted significant interest from international organizations, the private sector, and governments as a way to develop integrated, equitable solutions that involve inputs from multiple stakeholders. However, this approach is notably absent in the research arena. Identifying appropriate interventions for achieving sustainable charcoal and food production and maintaining the underlying hydrological system on which they depend requires that the systems are considered simultaneously and that their biophysical, social, and political inter-relationships are well understood. Taking charcoal as the nexus entry point, this Research Topic aims to generate new understanding of charcoal production systems by incorporating agriculture and hydrology into the matrix. We were interested in empirical articles, reviews, meta-analytical articles, and perspective papers that address at least two of the three nexus components and which offer provocative and insightful perspectives into the nexus as a whole. We hope that this Research Topic will: 1) facilitate identification of research gaps, policy opportunities, and priorities for the nexus; 2) kick-start the development of a community of researchers and practitioners working on the nexus; and 3) permit the development of a research agenda that explores the nexus globally across multiple study sites.
