

A woman with blonde hair is lying on her back on a treatment table. A practitioner's hands are positioned to perform a manual osteopathy technique on her neck. The practitioner's left hand is at the base of the skull, and the right hand is supporting the side of the neck. The woman's eyes are closed, and she appears relaxed. In the background, a model of a human spine is visible on a stand, and a potted plant is partially seen on the left. The setting is a clinical or therapeutic office with light-colored walls.
