High Performance Embedded Architectures and Compilers Tom Conte, Nacho Navarro, Wen-mei W. Hwu, Mateo Valero, Theo Ungerer, 2005-10-27 As Chairmen of HiPEAC 2005 we have the pleasure of welcoming you to the proceedings of the first international conference promoted by the HiPEAC Network of Excellence. During the last year HiPEAC has been building its clusters of researchers in computer architecture and advanced compiler techniques for embedded and high performance computers. Recently the Summer School has been the seed for a fruitful collaboration of renowned international faculty and young researchers from 23 countries with fresh new ideas. Now the conference promises to be among the premier forums for discussion and debate on these research topics.

The prestige of a symposium is mainly determined by the quality of its technical program. This first program lived up to our high expectations thanks to the large number of strong submissions. The Program Committee received a total of 84 submissions; only 17 were selected for presentation as full length papers and another one as an invited paper. Each paper was rigorously reviewed by three Program Committee members and at least one external referee. Many reviewers spent a great amount of effort to provide detailed feedback. In many cases such feedback along with constructive shepherding resulted in dramatic improvement in the quality of accepted papers. The names of the Program Committee members and the referees are listed in the proceedings. The net result of this team effort is that the symposium proceedings include outstanding contributions by authors from nine countries in three continents. In addition to paper presentations this first HiPEAC conference featured two keynotes delivered by prominent researchers from industry and academia.

Vermeylen, Hans Vlieghe, 2009 This collection of essays presents a status quaestionis concerning the dissemination of Flemish and Dutch art during the period 1400 1800 and highlights the role art auctions and dealers have played in this process Auctions emerged as the primary channel for art sales at the end of the seventeenth century in the Low Countries and during the eighteenth century countless local art collections were broken up and put up for auction Especially old master paintings exchanged hands in great numbers at these public sales and the finest pieces frequently ended up in foreign holdings The activities of the professional art dealer form the focus of several essays These intermediaries played an instrumental role in the commercialization and expansion of the art trade in early modern Europe They had a profound impact on the history of collecting as they mediated and even influenced taste Naturally the role of art dealers changed over time Therefore the historians art historians and economists who contributed to this volume have approached this phenomenon in an interdisciplinary fashion in order to properly understand how art markets functioned In doing so these essays explore the various ways in which art dealers helped shape markets for art and how they facilitated the increasing volume of exports of Netherlandish art from the sixteenth century onwards Hans Vlieghe is professor emeritus at the University of Leuven He has published extensively on Flemish art of the 17th century especially on Rubens and his circle Filip Vermeylen is assistant professor of Cultural Economics at the Erasmus University in Rotterdam His current research focuses on the history of art markets Dries Lyna works at the Center for Urban History University of Antwerp where he is currently preparing a Ph D thesis on art auctions in eighteenth century Antwerp and Brussels
