Life Sciences Exemplars For 2014

Harry J. Witchel, Michael W. Lee

Life Sciences Exemplars For 2014:

Innovation, Regional Development and the Life Sciences Kean Birch, 2016-10-14 The life sciences is an industrial sector that covers the development of biological products and the use of biological processes in the production of goods services and energy This sector is frequently presented as a major opportunity for policy makers to upgrade and renew regional economies leading to social and economic development through support for high tech innovation Innovation Regional Development and the Life Sciences analyses where innovation happens in the life sciences why it happens in those places and what this means for regional development policies and strategies Focusing on the UK and Europe its arguments are relevant to a variety of countries and regions pursuing high tech innovation and development policies The book s theoretical approach incorporates diverse geographies e g global national and regional and political economic forces e g discourses governance and finance in order to understand where innovation happens in the life sciences where and how value circulates in the life sciences and who captures the value produced in life sciences innovation This book will be of interest to researchers students and policy makers dealing with regional local economic development Dual-use life science research and biosecurity in the 21st Century: Social, Technical, Policy, and Ethical Challenges Jonathan E. Suk, Kathleen M. Vogel, Amanda Jane Ozin, 2015-06-04 In September 2011 scientists announced new experimental findings that would not only threaten the conduct and publication of influenza research but would have significant policy and intelligence implications The findings presented a modified variant of the H5N1 avian influenza virus hereafter referred to as the H5N1 virus that was transmissible via aerosol between ferrets These results suggested a worrisome possibility the existence of a new airborne and highly lethal H5N1 virus that could cause a deadly global pandemic In response a series of international discussions on the nature of dual use life science arose These discussions addressed the complex social technical political security and ethical issues related to dual use research This Research Topic will be devoted to contributions that explore this matrix of issues from a variety of case study and international perspectives The Oxford Handbook of the Science of Science Communication Kathleen Hall Jamieson, Dan M. Kahan, Dietram Scheufele, 2017 On topics from genetic engineering and mad cow disease to vaccination and climate change this Handbook draws on the insights of 57 leading science of science communication scholars who explore what social scientists know about how citizens come to understand and act on what is known by science Trends in Teaching Experimentation in the Life Sciences Nancy J. Pelaez, Stephanie M. Gardner, Trevor R. Anderson, 2022-05-11 This book is a guide for educators on how to develop and evaluate evidence based strategies for teaching biological experimentation to thereby improve existing and develop new curricula It unveils the flawed assumptions made at the classroom department and institutional level about what students are learning and what help they might need to develop competence in biological experimentation Specific case studies illustrate a comprehensive list of key scientific competencies that unpack what it means to be a competent experimental life scientist It includes explicit evidence based guidelines for educators regarding the teaching learning and assessment of biological research competencies The book also provides practical teacher guides and exemplars of assignments and assessments It contains a complete analysis of the variety of tools developed thus far to assess learning in this domain This book contributes to the growth of public understanding of biological issues including scientific literacy and the crucial importance of evidence based decision making around public policy It will be beneficial to life science instructors biology education researchers and science administrators who aim to improve teaching in life science departments Chapters 6 12 14 and 22 are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International License via link springer.com

Technologies in Biomedical and Life Sciences Education Harry J. Witchel, Michael W. Lee, 2022-06-24 This contributed volume focuses on understanding the educational strengths and weaknesses of mediated content including media as a learning supplement in comparison to traditional face to face learning Each chapter includes research on and a broad brush summary of approaches to combining life sciences education with educational technologies The chapters are organized into four main sections each of which focuses on a key question regarding the consequences of incorporating media into education In this regard the authors highlight how educational technology is both a bridge and barrier to student access and inclusivity Further they address the ongoing discussion as to whether students need to be present for lectures and on how having agency in their own learning can improve both retention and conceptual understanding To link the content to current events the authors also shed light on the impact that the COVID 19 pandemic is having on the continuity of educational programs and on the growing importance of educational technologies Consequently the book offers life science educators valuable guidance on the technologies already available and an outlook on what is yet to come

Data and Text Processing for Health and Life Sciences Francisco M. Couto, 2019-06-10 This open access book is a step by step introduction on how shell scripting can help solve many of the data processing tasks that Health and Life specialists face everyday with minimal software dependencies The examples presented in the book show how simple command line tools can be used and combined to retrieve data and text from web resources to filter and mine literature and to explore the semantics encoded in biomedical ontologies To store data this book relies on open standard text file formats such as TSV CSV XML and OWL that can be open by any text editor or spreadsheet application The first two chapters Introduction and Resources provide a brief introduction to the shell scripting and describe popular data resources in Health and Life Sciences The third chapter Data Retrieval starts by introducing a common data processing task that involves multiple data resources Then this chapter explains how to automate each step of that task by introducing the required commands line tools one by one The fourth chapter Text Processing shows how to filter and analyze text by using simple string matching techniques and regular expressions The last chapter Semantic Processing shows how XPath queries and shell scripting is able to process complex data such as the graphs used to specify ontologies Besides being almost immutable for more than four decades and being available in most of our personal computers shell scripting is relatively easy to learn by Health and Life specialists as a sequence of independent commands Comprehending them is like conducting a new laboratory protocol by testing and understanding its procedural steps and variables and combining their intermediate results Thus this book is particularly relevant to Health and Life specialists or students that want to easily learn how to process data and text and which in return may facilitate and inspire them to acquire deeper bioinformatics skills in the future "Code of Massachusetts regulations, 2014" ,2014 Archival snapshot of entire looseleaf Code of Massachusetts Regulations held by the Social Law Library of Massachusetts as of January 2020
