Flows and Practices Lyla Mehta,Bill Derman,2017-05-19 For the past two decades Integrated Water Resources Management IWRM has been the dominant paradigm in water resources This book explores how ideas of IWRM are being translated and adapted in Mozambique South Africa Tanzania Uganda and Zimbabwe Grounded in social science theory and research it highlights the importance of politics history and culture in shaping water management practices and reform and demonstrates how Africa has clearly been a laboratory for IWRM While a new cadre of professionals made IWRM their mission we show that poor women and men may not have always benefitted In some cases IWRM has also offered a distraction from more critical issues such as water and land grabs privatisation the negative impacts of water permits and a range of institutional ambiguities that prevent water allocations to small and poor water users By critically examining the interpretations and challenges of IWRM the book contributes to improving water policies and practices and making them more locally appropriate in Africa and beyond Evolution Education Around the Globe Hasan Deniz,Lisa A. Borgerding,2018-06-21 This edited book provides a global view on evolution education It describes the state of evolution education in different countries that are representative of geographical regions around the globe such as Eastern Europe Western Europe North Africa South Africa North America South America Middle East Far East South East Asia Australia and New Zealand Studies in evolution education literature can be divided into three main categories a understanding the interrelationships among cognitive affective epistemological and religious factors that are related to peoples views about evolution b designing implementing evaluating evolution education curriculum that reflects contemporary evolution understanding and c reducing antievolutionary attitudes This volume systematically summarizes the evolution education literature across these three categories for each country or geographical region The individual chapters thus include common elements that facilitate a cross cultural meta analysis Written for a primarily academic audience this book provides a much needed common background for future evolution education research across the globe The SAGE Encyclopedia of Cancer and Society Graham A. Colditz,2015-08-12 The first edition of the Encyclopedia of Cancer and Society was published in 2007 and received a 2008 Editors Choice Award from Booklist It served as a general non technical resource focusing on cancer from the perspective of the social and behavioral sciences exploring social and economic impacts the business of cancer advertising of drugs and treatment centers how behavior change could offer great potential for cancer prevention environmental risks food additives and regulation the relation between race and ethnicity and cancer risk socioeconomic status controversies both scientific and political in cancer treatment and research country by country entries on cancer around the world and more Given various developments in the field including new drug treatments political controversies over use of the vaccines Gardasil and Cervarix with young girls to prevent cervical cancer and unexpected upticks in the prevalence of adult smoking within the U S following decades of decline the SAGE Encyclopedia of Cancer and Society

Second Edition serves as an updated and more current encyclopedia that addresses concerns pertaining to this topic Key Features Approximately half of the 700 first edition articles revised and updated 30 new entries covering new developments since 2006 Signed entries with cross references Further Readings accompanied by pedagogical elements New Reader s Guide Updated Chronology Resource Guide Glossary and through new Index The SAGE Encyclopedia of Cancer and Society Second Edition serves as a reliable and precise source for students and researchers with an interest in social and behavioral sciences and seeks to better understand the continuously evolving subject matter of cancer and society The Statesman's Yearbook 2024 Palgrave Macmillan,2024-01-03 Now in its 160th edition The Statesman s Yearbook continues to be the reference work of choice for accurate and reliable information on every country in the world Covering political economic social and cultural aspects the Yearbook is also available online for subscribing institutions Birthing Techno-Sapiens Robbie Davis-Floyd,2021-03-31 This ground breaking book challenges us to re think ourselves as techno sapiens a new species we are creating as we continually co evolve ourselves with our technologies While some of its chapters are imaginary they are all empirically grounded in ethnography and richly theorized from diverse disciplines The authors go far beyond a techno optimism vs techno pessimism stance stretching our thinking about birthing techno sapiens to consider not only how our cyborgian reproductive lives are constrained and or enabled by technology but are also about emotions and spirit The world of reproductive health care and particularly that of genetic engineering is developing exponentially and current challenges are vastly different from those of a decade ago The book is provocative intended to generate debate ideas and future research and to influence ethical policy and practice in human techno reproduction It will be of interest across the social sciences and humanities for reproductive scholars bioethicists techno scientists and those involved in the development and delivery of maternity services Intra- and inter-species interactions in microbial communities Luis Raul Comolli,Birgit Luef,Manfred Auer,2015-03-03 Recent developments in various OMICs fields have revolutionized our understanding of the vast diversity and ubiquity of microbes in the biosphere However most of the current paradigms of microbial cell biology and our view of how microbes live and what they are capable of are derived from in vitro experiments on isolated strains Even the co culturing of mixed species to interrogate community behavior is relatively new But the majority of microorganisms lives in complex communities in natural environments under varying conditions and often cannot be cultivated Unless we obtain a detailed understanding of the near native 3D ultrastructure of individual community members the 3D spatial community organization their metabolic interdependences coordinated gene expression and the spatial organization of their macromolecular machines inventories as well as their communication strategies we won t be able to truly understand microbial community life How spatial and also temporal organization in cell cell interactions are achieved remains largely elusive For example a key question in microbial ecology is what mechanisms microbes employ to respond when faced with prey competitors or predators and changes in external factors Specifically to what degree do bacterial cells in biofilms act individually or with coordinated responses What are the spatial extent and coherence of coordinated responses In addition networks linking organisms across a dynamic range of physical constraints and connections should provide the basis for linked evolutionary changes under pressure from a changing environment Therefore we need to investigate microbial responses to altered or adverse environmental conditions including phages predators and competitors and their macromolecular metabolic responses according to their spatial organization We envision a diverse set of tools including optical spectroscopical chemical and ultrastructural imaging techniques that will be utilized to address questions regarding e g intra and inter organism interactions linked to ultrastructure and correlated adaptive responses in gene expression physiological and metabolic states as a consequence of the alterations of their environment Clearly strategies for co evolution and in general the display of adaptive strategies of a microbial network as a response to the altered environment are of high interest While a special focus will be placed on terrestrial sole species or mixed biofilms we are also interested in aquatic systems biofilms in general and microbes living in symbiosis In this Research Topic we wish to summarize and review results investigating interactions and possibly networks between microbes of the same or different species their co occurrence as well as spatiotemporal patterns of distribution Our goal is to include a broad spectrum of experimental and theoretical contributions from research and review articles to hypothesis and theory aiming at understanding microbial interactions at a systems level

The Emerging Policy for Green Economy and Social Development in Limpopo, South Africa Agnes Musyoki, 2012 This paper evaluates the emerging green economy in South Africa using ideas from the concept of sustainable rural livelihoods which are intimately connected to ecological services many developing countries It finds that African communities and governments are prioritising green economy for job creation poverty alleviation and reducing inequalities while addressing global environmental concerns What remains problematic however is how these objectives are to be achieved The paper argues that one of the key challenges in South Africa is the gap between policy and implementation of sustainable development the Millennium Development Goals and other globally driven initiatives The paper emphasises that green economy policy needs to consider poverty reduction and women s empowerment in order to promote rural sustainable development Publisher description
