Life Sciences Caps Final Examination 2014 Grade 12:

Evolution Education Around the Globe Hasan Deniz, Lisa A. Borgerding, 2018-06-21 This edited book provides a global view on evolution education. It describes the state of evolution education in different countries that are representative of geographical regions around the globe such as Eastern Europe, Western Europe, North Africa, South Africa, North America, South America, Middle East, Far East, South East Asia, Australia, and New Zealand. Studies in evolution education literature can be divided into three main categories: a) understanding the interrelationships among cognitive, affective, epistemological, and religious factors that are related to people's views about evolution; b) designing/implementing/evaluating evolution education curriculum that reflects contemporary evolution understanding; and c) reducing antievolutionary attitudes. This volume systematically summarizes the evolution education literature across these three categories for each country or geographical region. The individual chapters thus include common elements that facilitate a cross-cultural meta-analysis. Written for a primarily academic audience, this book provides a much-needed common background for future evolution education research across the globe.

The Legacy of a Troubled Past Bernard Cros, Mathilde Rogez, Gilles Teulie, 2022-06-07 Since the advent of democracy in 1994, South Africa has been engaged in an unprecedented exercise of national soul-searching torn between the need to lay to rest centuries of racial conflict and the desire to come to terms with its traumatic history. This book asks whether the country has begun to turn the corner on the legacy of collective hurt. To do so, it ranges in scope across 350 years of South African history encompassing the struggle against the apartheid regime, the downfall of white supremacy, the Truth and Reconciliation Commission, and the first 25 years of democracy up to more recent movements such as Rhodes Must Fall or the inquests into the 2012 Marikana massacre that point to the persistence of traumatic memory in contemporary society. The authors assembled here set out to analyse the representation of such memory: how it has been woven into narratives, recorded, preserved, and questioned, and how issues of individual and collective responsibility have been grafted onto it through the visual arts, literature, political discourse, and public action. In focusing on memory along with its derived forms of memorialization, collective memory, nostalgia, or post-memory, our contributors pose a fundamental question: is South Africa finally coming to the end of the post-apartheid transition period? Do the decades of memory work on racial violence and repression examined here hold out hope for the nation to make peace with its past?
