Bodies in the Bog and the Archaeological Imagination Karin Sanders, 2009-12 Over the past few centuries northern Europe's bogs have yielded mummified men, women and children who were deposited there as sacrifices in the early Iron Age and kept startlingly intact by the chemical properties of peat. In this remarkable account of their modern afterlives Karin Sanders argues that the discovery of bog bodies began an extraordinary and ongoing cultural journey. Throughout the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Sanders shows these eerily preserved remains came alive in art and science as material metaphors for such concepts as trauma, nostalgia and identity. Sigmund Freud, Joseph Beuys, Seamus Heaney and other major figures have used them to reconsider fundamental philosophical, literary, aesthetic and scientific concerns. Exploring this intellectual spectrum Sanders contends that the power of bog bodies to provoke such a wide range of responses is rooted in their unique status as both archaeological artifacts and human beings. They emerge as corporeal time capsules that transcend archaeology to challenge our assumptions about what we can know about the past. By restoring them to the roster of cultural phenomena that force us to confront our ethical and aesthetic boundaries Bodies in the Bog excavates anew the question of what it means to be human.

The National Union Catalogs, 1963-, 1964 COWA SURVEY AND BIBLIOGRAPHIES, 1960 National Union Catalog, 1968 Includes entries for maps and atlases Denmark Bent Rying, 1974 Beyond Barrows David R. Fontijn, Arjan Louwen, Sasja van der Vaart, Karsten Wentink, 2013 Europe is dotted with tens of thousands of prehistoric barrows. In spite of their ubiquity little is known on the role they had in pre and protohistoric landscapes. In 2010 an international group of archaeologists came together at the conference of the European Association of Archaeologists in The Hague to discuss and review current research on this topic. This book presents the proceedings of that session. The focus is on the prehistory of Scandinavia and the Low Countries but also includes an excursion to huge prehistoric mounds in the southeast of North America. One contribution presents new evidence on how the immediate environment of Neolithic Funnel Beaker TRB culture megaliths was ordered; another one discusses the role of remarkable single and double post alignments around Bronze and Iron Age burial mounds. Zooming out, several chapters deal with the place of barrows in the broader landscape. The significance of humanly managed heath in relation to barrow groups is discussed and one contribution emphasizes how barrow orderings not only reflect spatial organization but are also important as conceptual anchors structuring prehistoric perception. Other authors deal with Early Neolithic persistent places and with Late Bronze Age

Early Iron Age urnfields argue that we should also look beyond monumentality in order to understand long term use of ritual landscapes The book contains an important contribution by the well known Swedish archaeologist Tore Artelius on how Bronze Age barrows were structurally re used by pre Christian Vikings This is his last article written briefly before his death This book is dedicated to his memory This publication is part of the Ancestral Mounds Research Project of the University of Leiden

Connected by the Sea Lucy Blue,Frederick M. Hocker,Anton Englert,2016-03-31 The 10th International Symposium on Boat and Ship Archaeology was held in Roskilde Denmark in 2003 The theme of the meeting was Connected by the Sea and was designed to emphasize the role of the sea seafaring and watercraft as bridges rather than barriers Maritime archaeology tends to take place within national borders with a national focus yet the very premise of seafaring is the desire to travel beyond the horizon to establish contact with other places and cultures The conference theme was chosen to encourage the maritime archaeological community to think in international terms

The TRB West Group Jan Albert Bakker,2009 A classic study of the pottery of the TRB West group originally published in 1979 Bakker deals with the research history and typochronology of the TRB pottery Also he gives a detailed account of the other TRB finds such as flint and stone artefacts and of course the most important TRB sites Over the years this book has become a standard work for anyone who is interested in hunebeds and their makers The author has written a new introduction to this reprint in which he describes how the book of 1979 came together and the research that has been carried out since then
