Supporting Young Children Through Change and Everyday Transitions Sonia Mainstone-Cotton, 2020-05-21 Explaining the importance of supporting children through change for their wellbeing and social and emotional development this practical guide gives early years practitioners and parents the tools to help children cope with change and everyday transitions The book looks at different types of change that children can encounter such as moving homes new siblings starting school bereavement and divorce and gives advice on best practice for early years practitioners and parents With ideas and activities that can easily be implemented this book is the ultimate handbook for supporting young children through changes big and small Thinking Allowed Mick Waters, 2013-04-15 Mick Waters has consistently been a down to earth voice in the increasingly complex world of education for many years He has regularly endeared himself to school communities in the UK and overseas by talking the sort of sense they needed to hear practical challenging inspiring insightful engaging His unique perspective closeness to the classroom and ability to see innovation in terms of its impact on learners mean his views are always worth listening to In this long awaited book Mick tells it how it is The things he believes in The things he wants to see differently Wry reflections humorous insights astute asides and simple ideas to change the system and the future for young people everywhere This is the book you have been waiting for Numeracy in Authentic Contexts Maura Sellars, 2017-10-25 This book is based on the notion that there are many ways in which mathematics learning can be achieved for students and that not all of them are focused on the mathematics classroom It explores the foundational numeracy principles of the non mathematical subject areas and aligns these to the Australian numeracy learning continuum It demonstrates in detail the extent to which numeracy competencies underpin successful learning in all the subject areas of the curricula It validates a focus of developing numeracy competencies through learning in the arts science and other discipline areas with which school students to engage with in order develop holistically but which are not subjected to national assessment practices It is developed around the notion of praxis putting theory into practice in order to respond to the urgent need for students to be supported in their efforts to increase their numeracy capabilities in a world where extensive amounts of new information are often presented in graphical or data based formats Additionally it offers perspectives on developing all students capacities to become numerate in school contexts and presents inclusive differentiated lesson examples as an alternative way of exploring numeracy in the context of teaching and learning in real world classroom contexts

Making Sense of Children's Drawings Angela Anning, Kathy Ring, 2004-08 It provides support for practitioners in developing a pedagogy of drawing in Art and Design and across the curriculum and offers advice for parents about how to make sense of their children's drawings Making Sense of Children's Drawings is enlivened with the real drawings of seven young children collected over three years These drawings stimulated dialogues with the children parents and practitioners whose voices are reported in the book The book makes a powerful argument for us to radically re think the role of drawing in young children's construction of meaning communication and sense of identity It provides insights into the influence of media and consumerism as reflected in popular visual imagery and on gender identity formation in young children It also offers strong messages about the overemphasis on the three Rs in early childhood education

Educational Binds of Poverty Ceri Brown, 2014-12-17 Shortlisted for BBC Radio 4's Thinking Allowed's second Ethnography Awards in partnership with the British Sociological Association Educational Binds of Poverty tackles the assumptions made by many recent social and educational policy initiatives suggesting that the best way to improve educational prospects of children in poverty is through an increased emphasis upon a culture of control discipline regulation and accountability In this book Ceri Brown presents these assumptions against a review of the research literature and an original ethnographic longitudinal study into the lives of children in poverty in order to highlight the gap between policy discourses and the lived experiences of children themselves Through the theoretical concept of a set of binds against educational success the book explores four key areas that children in poverty have to navigate if they are to be successful in school These are material deprivation the cultural contexts of school home and the community friendship and social capital the effects of student mobility through atypical school changes In seeking to characterise and explain what life is like for young school children this book questions why policy makers have a radically different frame of reference in purporting to understand how their policies will change the behaviour of those living in poverty This leads onto a consideration of what lessons may be learned in order to contribute towards a more appropriate policy agenda that attends to the multiple binds that children in poverty have to negotiate
