cities and served as birthplaces for some of the era's most effective minds, laws and discoveries. This survey traces the growth of the largest medieval universities of Bologna, Paris and Oxford, along with the universities of Cambridge, Padua, Naples, Montpellier, Toulouse, Orleans, Angers, Prague, Vienna and Glasgow. Covering the years 1179-1499, this work discusses common traits of medieval universities, their major figures and their roles in medieval life.

Life in the Medieval University by Robert S. Robert Sangster Rait. A Clerk ther was of Oxenford also. That unto logik hadde longe y go. As lene was his hors, as is a rake. And he was not right fat. I undertake. But lokked holwe and therto soberly. Ful thredbar was his overest courtepy. For he had gotten him yet no benefyce. Ne was so worldly for to have offyce. For him was lever have at his beddes heed twenty bokes clad in blak or reed. Of Aristotle and his philosophy. Than robes riche or fithle or gay sautrye. But al be that he was a philosophre. Yet hadde he but litel gold in cofre. But al that he might of his freendes hente. On bokes and on lerninge he it spent. And bisily gan for the soules preye. Of hem that yaf him wherwith to scoleye. Of studie took he most cure and most hede. Noght o word spak he more than was nede. And that was seyde in forme and reverence. And short and quik and ful of hy sentence. Souninge in moral vertu was his speche. And gladly wolde he lerne and gladly teche.

An account of life in the medieval University might well take the form of a commentary upon the classical description of a medieval English student. His dress, the character of his studies and the nature of his materials, the hardships and the natural ambitions of his scholar's life, his obligations to founders and benefactors suggest learned expositions which might in judicious hands extend from here to Mesopotamy and will serve for a modest attempt to picture the environment of one of the Canterbury pilgrims. We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection. Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public. The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades. The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works. To ensure a high quality product, each title has been meticulously hand-curated by our staff. Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work. We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience.
