Life-span Development John W. Santrock, 1989 Lifespan Developmental Systems Ellen A. Skinner, Thomas Kindermann, Andrew Mashburn, 2019-05-09 Everything you always wanted to know about theories meta theories methods and interventions but didn't realize you needed to ask This innovative textbook takes advanced undergraduate and graduate students behind the curtain of standard developmental science so they can begin to appreciate the generative value and methodological challenges of a lifespan developmental systems perspective It envisions applied developmental science as focused on ways to use knowledge about human development to help solve societal problems in real life contexts and considers applied developmental research to be purpose driven field based community engaged and oriented toward efforts to optimize development Based on the authors more than 25 years of teaching this text is designed to help researchers and their students intentionally create a cooperative learning community full of arguments doubts and insights that can facilitate their own internal paradigm shifts one student at a time With the aid of extensive online supplementary materials students of developmental psychology as well as students in other psychological subdisciplines such as industrial organizational social and community psychology and applied professions that rely on developmental training such as education social work counseling nursing health care and business will find this to be an invaluable guidebook and toolbox for conceptualizing and studying applied problems from a lifespan developmental systems perspective Life-span Developmental Psychology Katherine Karraker, E. Mark Cummings, Anita L. Greene, Katherine H. Karraker, 1991 Although there has been a significant increase in studies of stress and coping processes in recent years researchers have often approached these topics from rather narrow and constrained perspectives Furthermore little communication has occurred across disciplines and research directions resulting in the emergence of several relatively isolated literatures An outgrowth of the Eleventh Biennial West Virginia University Conference on Life Span Development this volume emphasizes two major themes the importance of taking a life span approach to the study of stress and coping and the development of new and more complete conceptual models of stress and coping processes The first to approach these subjects from a life span perspective this book includes papers by distinguished researchers from each of the major periods of the life span and brings together the cognitive and socioemotional traditions in the study of dealing with pressures The editors hope that this facilitation of communication among researchers with diverse views will help create a broadening and integration of perspectives Abstracts of Papers Presented in Symposia, 1985 Journal of Aging Studies, 1989 Child Development in a Life-Span Perspective E. Mavis Hetherington, Richard M. Lerner, Marion Perlmutter, 2013-04-15 Comprised of papers written by members of the Social Science Research Council Subcommittee on Child Development in Life Span Perspective this book provides a representation of the current status of the relation between child development and the life span It suggests the possible synthesis of these two fields from both conceptual and empirical evidence Theories and methods concerning the social psychological and anatomical influences on children's cognitive development through adolescence are highlighted Index
