

3-3.6.2 Selecting a Proper Location for the GPS Antenna

GPS satellites transmit their special signals in the 1575 MHz range: such signals do not penetrate conductive surfaces. When selecting the location of the GPS antenna, you should also be aware that strong local interference as well as reflections from nearby objects may disrupt normal reception and degrade the signal quality.

Thus, the GPS antenna should be installed on horizontal surfaces, in a place that provides a clear view of the sky, which, in as far as possible, is not obstructed by large objects. For example, the roof of the passenger's cabin is a good place for the GPS antenna.

Moreover, you should not park the vehicle under dense foliage or other cover, for example, in a garage, if you want to get a position fix from your GPS receiver.

NOTE

When the GPS antenna is installed on a metal surface for prolonged periods, care must be taken to insulate the antenna, to prevent galvanic corrosion.

After installing the antenna, route its cable to the GPS connector on the rear of the Micom-Z, and make sure to avoid running it parallel to the other transceiver cables.

3-3.7 Cooling

Micom-Z units are cooled by free air convection. Therefore, make sure that sufficient free space is available around the equipment to enable free air flow.

When it is necessary to use Micom-Z in applications that require continuous transmission for prolonged intervals, it is recommended to install Micom-Z on the optional cooling tray.
