Cheering for Self James S. Vass Jr, James Vass Jr, 2003-05-13 This book is a study of UW men's basketball fans during the 2001 2002 season and explores their proclivity to cheering for self during basketball events The term basketball event is used rather than basketball game to make clear that everything connected to and seen heard or experienced before during and after a basketball game is included The actual game itself is only part of the basketball event An undercurrent runs throughout this participant observation mini ethnography dealing with access and the relative quality of that access to basketball events being affected by one's age class race and gender The prominent role of advertising in shaping basketball events and helping to construct fans as consumers of products both commercial and institutional during the process of cheering for self is central to this idea

Cheering for self is the activity engaged in by individual fans after they find things to identify or connect with through personal investment. Fans cheer for self indirectly. Fans cheer for the team that they identify with. Through the process of cheering for self while attending the basketball event, people are taught how to become fans, to consume a UW product, the basketball event, and to consume advertisers' products. People have a tendency to spend their entire life trying to impress others.

Macroeconomics: Canadian Edition N. Gregory Mankiw, 2014-05-09. This special edition of Greg Mankiw's intermediate macroeconomics textbook takes the same approach that made the parent text a bestseller but with coverage shaped to address fiscal policy, monetary exchange rate policy, deficit reduction, and other critical economic issues from the uniquely Canadian perspective. Like Mankiw's Macroeconomics, the Canadian edition teaches fundamentals by relating theoretical concepts to big issues and policy debates but illustrates those ideas and discussions with examples and cases from Canada as well as research by Canadian economists.
