Banana is one of the most important fruits worldwide and a staple food for millions of people in developing countries However vegetative propagation of commercial cultivars results in a limited genetic background making banana plants susceptible to disease infection Conventional chemical control is typically inefficient owing to the plant s inability to absorb significant quantities of chemicals in a short period of time The overuse leads to chemical reagent resistance and a rise in environmental contamination Furthermore the inappropriate chemical application might result in a relatively high quantity of residues on banana fruits posing human health risks through consumption As a result new technology and discoveries for integrated banana plant protection are urgently required      Report on the Investigation of an Infectious Bee Disease Veranus Alva Moore, Gershom Franklin White, 1903      Proceedings of the Second Japan Conference on
