This volume brings together nineteen of Mark Siderits's most important essays on Buddhist philosophy. Together they cover a wide range of topics from metaphysics, logic, philosophy of language, epistemology, and ethics to the specific discussions of the interaction between Buddhist and classical Indian philosophy. Each of the essays is followed by a postscript that Siderits has written specifically for this volume. The postscripts connect essays of the volume with each other, show thematic interrelations, and locate them relative to the development of Siderits's thought. In addition, they provide the opportunity to bring the discussion of the essays up to date by acquainting the reader with the development of research in the field since the publication of the essays. Siderits's work is based on an investigation of Indian sources in their original language; nevertheless, the focus of the essays is primarily systematic, not historical or philological. The idea of fusion philosophy, a term coined by Siderits, embodies precisely the assumption that by bringing a Western and an Eastern tradition together, both can benefit by learning from each other about new ways of tackling old philosophical problems. Parliamentary Debates (Hansard).

Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons, 2013. Towards a New Scientific Realism Jan Voosholz, 2025-08-30. This book presents an argument for a new type of scientific realism beyond naturalism, correlationism, and what the author terms objective realism. To achieve this positive philosophical proposal, Jan Voosholz develops a thorough critique of current debates surrounding realism and antirealism in philosophy of science, as well as those concerning new and speculative realism. Moreover, in order to provide a new outlook for the philosophy of the natural sciences, this book advances and introduces decisive arguments to that debate from speculative and new realist discussions in ontology and epistemology. Consequently, it develops a unique starting point for a pluralistic philosophy of nature. Any proponent or adversary of new speculative, perspectival, or pragmatic realism, ontic or epistemic structural realism, scientific pluralism, feminist or structural empiricism, selective scepticism, non-reductive or reductive naturalism, with an interest in general philosophy of science, should take the careful reconstruction of the debates and the novel arguments presented in this book into account. Readers interested in philosophy and the sciences, with an interest in these areas of theoretical philosophy, will find in this book an informative and comprehensive outline of the state of the art in the epistemology and ontology of the natural sciences.
