Oxford Textbook of Children's Sport and Exercise Medicine Neil Armstrong, Willem van Mechelen, 2017 Now consisting of fifty innovative chapters authored by internationally recognised scientists and clinicians the extensively revised third edition of the Oxford Textbook of Children s Sport and Exercise Medicine is the fundamental reference work on paediatric exercise medicine and sport science Using a scientific evidence based approach and new insights into understanding the exercising child and adolescent this title covers a complex and rapidly evolving field Designed to inform challenge and support all involved in the study and treatment of the exercising child and adolescent the Oxford Textbook of Children's Sport and Exercise Medicine presents complex scientific and medical material in an accessible and understandable manner With extensive sections on Exercise Science Exercise Medicine Sport Science and Sport Medicine chapters comprehensively cover training physical activity in relation to health issues the physiology of the young athlete and injury using the research and practical experience of a renowned author team Fully illustrated and extensively revised new topics and fully updated material complement the state of the art approach of previous editions With an increased focus on molecular exercise physiology close to 75% of the content found in this edition is new material reflecting the many advances and developments across this discipline Child Perspectives and Children's Perspectives in Theory and Practice Dion Sommer, Ingrid Pramling Samuelsson, Karsten Hundeide, 2009-12-24 Recent decades have seen a growing emphasis in a number of professional contexts on acknowledging and acting on the views of children This trend was given added weight by the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child ratified in 1990 Today seeking the perspective of the child has become an essential process in all sorts of tasks from framing new legislation to regulating professions This book answers the fundamental question of what it is that constitutes a child perspective and how this might differ from the perspectives of children themselves The answers to such questions have important implications for building progressive and developmental adult child relationships However theoretical and empirical treatments of child perspectives and children's perspectives are very diverse and idiosyncratic and the standard reference work has yet to be written Thus this work is an attempt to fill the gap in the literature by searching for and defining key formulations of potential child perspectives within parts of the so called new child paradigm This has been derived from childhood sociology contextual relational developmental psychology interpretative humanistic psychology and developmental pedagogy The highly experienced authors develop a comprehensive professional child perspective paradigm that integrates recent theory and empirical child research With its clear presentation of underlying theories and suggested applications this book illustrates a child oriented understanding of specific relevance to both child care and preschool educational practice Transforming Early Head Start Home Visiting Bridget A.

Walsh, Jennifer A. Mortensen, 2019-10-29 Research on home visiting shows that Early Head Start EHS home based programs benefit from additional training and resources that streamline philosophy and content In this essential guide Walsh and Mortensen propose that alignment with Family Life Education's FLE strengths based methodology results in greater consistency through a model of prevention education and collaboration with families This text is the first to outline linkages between FLE and EHS home visiting It explores a qualitative study of FLE integrated in a current EHS home based program and application of FLE methodology to home visiting topics This approach will influence professional practice and provide a foundation for developing evidence based home visiting practices Online content accompanies the text with videos demonstrating the FLE approach in action and discussion questions to encourage engagement with and understanding of the core material Transforming Early Head Start Home Visiting A Family Life Education Approach is essential reading for upper level undergraduate and masters students in family studies and early childhood education as well as practitioners working with children and families
