Kao, 2020-07-19 Asian countries are among the largest contributors to climate change China India Japan and South Korea are among the top ten largest carbon emitters in the world with South Korea Japan and Taiwan also some of the largest on a per capita basis At the same time many Asian countries notably India Taiwan Japan the Philippines and Thailand are among those most affected by climate change in terms of economic losses attributed to climate related disasters Asia is an extremely diverse region in terms of the political regimes of its constituent countries and of their level of development and the nature of their civil societies As such its countries are producing a wide range of governance approaches to climate change Covering the diversity of climate change governance in Asia this book presents cosmopolitan governance from the perspective of urban and rural communities local and central governments state society relations and international relations In doing so it offers both a valuable overview of individual Asian countries approaches to climate change governance and a series of case studies for finding solutions to climate change challenges

Shaping Images Thorsten Stephan Beck,2016-09-12 Images play an outstanding role in the transfer of knowledge They are used in numerous academic disciplines to present scientific results Digital tools such as Adobe Photoshop make it possible to display the information in images brilliantly and clearly at the same time the line between appropriate and inappropriate manipulation is not always easy to draw Scientific journals have published guidelines for handling and editing images but they are not always specific enough to provide clarity for all situations Shaping Images examines how scholars from biology information science art history and design deal with this uncertainty how they process and manipulate images where they see their special potential and how they draw the line between appropriate and inappropriate image manipulation The work also looks at scientific journals and lets selected editors have their say What would have to happen to make it possible to combat image manipulation in science more effectively The book s interdisciplinary approach makes it clear how different the practices are and how different the views are on what should be allowed in the processing of images Images this too is problematized in the book are always a means to a certain end which is precisely why the handling of images should be thoroughly reflected upon

Action without Hope Nathan K. Hensley,2025-06-04 A study of how writers from the early phases of our prolonged climate emergency used aesthetic strategies to redefine the category of action What does it feel like to live helplessly in a world that is coming undone Nathan Hensley turns to Victorian literature to uncover a prehistory of this deeply contemporary sense of powerlessness For many in nineteenth century Britain their world seemed so scarred by human rapacity that restoring it seemed beyond the powers of any one individual Like George Eliot s characters in Middlemarch or the doomed lovers of Wuthering Heights observers of the gathering carbon economy felt themselves ensnared by interlocked and broken systems In the face of damage so vast and apparently irreversible what could possibly be done To answer this question Hensley shows that nineteenth century writers and artists devised new ways to understand action and hope They rescaled action away from the grandly heroic and toward minor adjustments and collaborative interventions They turned away from logical proofs and direct argumentation and instead called on aesthetic technologies like sonnets and fractured lyrics watercolor sketches and vast multiplot novels finding scope for action not at the level of the theme or the thesis but in gestures and details Ranging from J M W Turner s painterly technique to Emily Bront s dreamlike fragments and reading along the way works by Alfred Lord Tennyson H G Wells Lewis Carroll Gerard Manley Hopkins William Berryman Charlotte Bront George Eliot and Christina Rossetti Hensley s study makes an important contribution to Victorian studies and the environmental humanities

Towards Elimination of Dog Mediated Human Rabies Salome Dürr,Anna Sophie Fahrion,Lea Knopf,Louise

Taylor,2017-10-06 Rabies is an ancient zoonotic viral disease that still exerts a high impact on human and animal health The disease is almost 100% fatal after clinical signs appear and it kills tens of thousands of people per year worldwide particularly in Africa and many parts of Asia Although the disease in humans can be prevented by timely post exposure prophylaxis its access and affordability is limited in rabies endemic countries With 99% of infections in humans caused by rabid domestic dog bites controlling the infection in this reservoir population has been proven to be most effective to reduce and eliminate human rabies cases In this context this Research Topic invited contributions on the control and elimination of dog mediated human rabies Publications on epidemiological educational policy related and economic aspects of dog and human rabies surveillance implementation of control in dogs and humans and scientific documentation of success stories were consolidated We hope that these articles contribute to reaching the ambitious goal set by key players in global health of the elimination of dog mediated human rabies by 2030 Political Narratives in the Middle East and North Africa Wolfgang Mühlberger,Toni Alaranta,2020-02-13 This book discusses the role of political narratives in shaping perceptions of instability and conceptions of order in the Middle East and North Africa MENA The authors illustrate how in times of socio political turmoil and outbursts of discontent such as the Arab Spring political entrepreneurs explain and justify their political agendas by complementing hard power solutions with attractive ideas and discursive constructions that appeal to domestic constituencies and geopolitical allies The book is divided into two parts The first focuses on non state actors such as confessional communities and ideological movements who aim to develop narratives that are convincing to their respective polities It also studies regional powers that seek to determine their positions in a competitive environment via distinctive narrations of order In part two the authors investigate the narratives of global players that aim to explain and justify their role in an evolving international order Current Index to Journals in Education ,1997
