

LIGHT-GAUGE STEEL STUDS

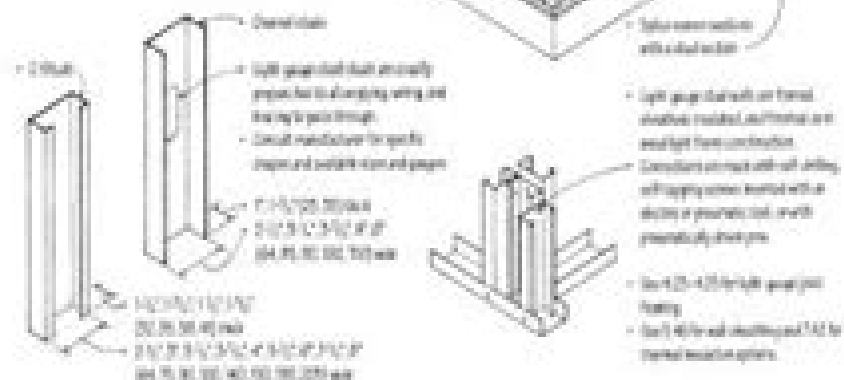

Light-gauge steel studs are normally formed by cold-forming sheet or strip steel. The cold-formed steel studs can be easily cut and assembled with simple tools and are available in light-gauge, non-combustible, and fireproof. Steel studs can be used as a structural framing system in a building with supporting light-gauge steel joists. As a non-light-frame construction, the stud framing system is suitable for various interior insulation and acoustics with range of finishes.
