INSTALLATION MANUAL

A. INTRODUCTION.

The narco Mark 12A is a combination VHF communication transceiver and a wholly independent VHF navigation receiver using advanced circuit techniques for high reliability. The panel unit contains the communication transceiver and navigation receiver sections, while the remotely-located modulator-power unit contains the audio and power sections.

The Mark 12A incorporates a NAV Ident filter, continuous NAV receiver operation while transmitting, and higher transmitter output. The Mark 12A panel unit and modulator/power unit, however, are interchangeable with their Mark 12 counterparts.

A.1. Panel Unit.

The VHF Transceiver is designed to be used as a primary communications apparatus. It is controlled by the left hand frequency selector of the Panel Unit. It is available with either 90 or 360 crystal controlled channels. A kit of crystals, obtainable from narco, can be installed at any time to convert a 90-channel Mark 12A for operation on 360 channels. Both receiver and transmitter are controlled by the same channel selector.

A 100 channel VHF Navigation Receiver is controlled by the right hand frequency selector. Used with an omni converter it can provide complete VOR/LOCALIZER navigation. An IDENT filter eliminates the code identification from a NAV signal so voice communications can be clearly understood. Pulling the NAV volume control knob disables the filter to permit positive identification of the station. The navigation receiver is not cut off while transmitting. Omni or localizer signals are therefore available at all times. This feature is especially desirable if an autopilot is coupled to the omni converter.

The navigation receiver contains glide slope and DME channel selector switches. Cable and connector kits may be installed at any time to connect these switches to a glide slope receiver, a DME interrogator, or both.

A.2. Modulator-Power Unit.

A remote-mounted unit, the T(12/24)MP-12A-1 or MP-12AH-1 contains the power supply and audio-modulator. An auxiliary audio input circuit is provided in the MP-12A-1 so that one or more other radio equipments may be connected to operate through the narco Mark 12A audio amplifier. This audio input circuit is designed for a level of 50 milliwatts from a 300 ohm source.

The suffix "AH" in the unit designation indicates that the speaker/headphone output circuit has been modified. This was done to eliminate the click in the headphone/speaker circuit caused by the collapsing field in the power unit output transformer. This modification provides comfortable headphone level for helicopter, air taxi, and commuter airline applications where headphones are used extensively. The auxiliary audio input on the "AH" model has been modified so that it can be used for mike inputs to provide intercom capability. See MM-3077-600 for recommended control circuits.

A gain control in the microphone input may be adjusted for full modulation with inputs of .06 to 1.5 volts from a 100-ohm source. This control is preset at the factory for carbon-microphone levels.

The Modulator-Power Units have been designed to be mounted either horizontally or vertically, by means of the mounting base supplied.
