Student and Teacher Writing Motivational Beliefs Steve Graham, Gary A. Troia, Gustaf Bernhard Uno Skar, 2024-06-21 The study of students motivational beliefs about writing and how such beliefs influence writing has increased since the publication of John Hays 1996 model of writing This model emphasized that writers motivational beliefs influence how and what they write Likewise increased attention has been devoted in recent years to how teachers motivational beliefs about writing especially their efficacy to teach writing impact how writing is taught and how students progress as writers As a result there is a need to bring together in a Research Topic studies that examine the role and influence of writing beliefs Historically the psychological study of writing has focused on what students write or the processes they apply when writing Equally important but investigated less often are studies examining how writing is taught and how teachers efforts contribute to students writing What has been less prominent in the psychological study of writing are the underlying motivational beliefs that drive or inhibit students writing or serve as catalysts for teachers actions in the classroom when teaching writing This Research Topic will bring together studies that examine both students and teachers motivational beliefs about teaching writing This will include studies examining the operation of such beliefs how they develop cognitive and affective correlates how writing motivational beliefs can be fostered and how they are related to students writing achievement By focusing on both students and teachers beliefs the Research Topic will provide a more nuanced and broader picture of the role of motivation beliefs in writing and writing instruction This Research Topic includes papers that address students motivational beliefs about writing teachers motivational beliefs about writing or teaching writing Students motivational beliefs about writing include beliefs about the value and utility of writing writing competence attitudes toward writing goal orientation motives for writing identity epistemological underpinnings writing and attributions for success failure as examples Teacher motivational include these same judgements as well as beliefs about their preparation and their students competence and progress as writers to provide additional examples This Research Topic is interested in papers that examine how such beliefs operate develop are related to other cognitive and affective variables how they are impacted by instruction and how they are related to students writing performance Submitted studies can include original research both quantitative qualitative or mixed methods meta analysis and reviews of the literature The Routledge International Handbook of Automated Essay Evaluation Mark D. Quaglia, Dominique Smith, Lisa L. Lande, 2017-08-19 Every teacher wants engaged students No student wants to be bored So why isn t every classroom teeming with discussion and purposeful activity centered on the day s learning expectations Consistently finding a rhythm where students progress through relevant and challenging content isn t easy But not only is it possible it can also seem effortless when teachers have the right design for genuinely engaging students Classroom dynamics are inherently complex as multifaceted as the personalities in the room so where should a teacher begin Engagement by Design gives you a framework for making daily improvements and highlights the opportunities that will bring the greatest benefit in the least amount of time You ll learn about relationships clarity and challenge including How getting to know each student a little better can fundamentally change the classroom dynamics and how to do that What it means to be an intentionally inviting teacher and how it gives you an advantage in creating an environment conducive to learning How to bring more clarity to key aspects of your work and how it can reap substantial rewards for you and your students How opening the culture to student voice listening to students is linked to academic motivation and how to use it to shape your day to day planning The best ways to increase learning for your students boosting the proportional value of their school year Understanding engagement and actively pursuing it can make all the difference between forging a real connection with students and having a classroom that s simply going through the motions Engagement by Design puts you in control of managing your classroom s success and increasing student learning one motivated student at a time Yes, No, Maybe So Jenna Kaye Lindsey,2008 Teaching Writing Mary Frances Claggett,2005 This new resource for writing teachers helps students set purpose and find form for their writing In today s educational climate it is more important than ever that we prepare our students to be effective and competent writers who can write for a variety of purposes How can we teach our students the skills they need to be successful while also fostering an appreciation for the process craft and art of writing Drawing from sound theory and research as well as on many years of experience in the English classroom Fran Claggett and colleagues Joan Brown Nancy Patterson and Louann Reid have created a writing teacher s resource to help both new and experienced teachers sort through the often complex issues in the teaching of writing With innovative teacher tested strategies for creating a classroom in which students thrive as writers Teaching Writing Craft Art Genre is a must have addition to every writing teacher s library In this volume you ll discover research based discussions on key issues classroom ready lessons for teaching genre methods for incorporating poetry into the writing program rationale and lessons for using modeling to teach writing ideas for integrating technology in the English classroom strategies for teaching grammar in contexts for writing examples of student work that illustrate teaching concepts sample rubrics for assessment and student self assessment and an extensive bibliography of resources Teaching Writing in Middle and Secondary Schools Jim Blasingame,John H. Bushman,2005 Teaching Writing in Middle and Secondary Schools provides research based and standards based strategies as well as classroom tested activities all in one book Covering the core fundamentals of exemplary practices in the teaching of writing this book demonstrates writing processes and the use of rubrics with authentic samples taken directly from students writing portfolios Readers are also given valuable information on teaching grammar and spelling curriculum planning service learning and community and parental involvement all through the lens of teaching writing Rethinking Rubrics in Writing Assessment Maja Wilson,2006 The conventional wisdom in English education is that rubrics are the best and easiest tools for assessment But sometimes it s better to be unconventional In Rethinking Rubrics in Writing Assessment Maja Wilson offers a new perspective on rubrics and argues for a better more responsive way to think about assessing writers progress Though you may sense a disconnect between student centered teaching and rubric based assessment you may still use rubrics for convenience or for want of better alternatives Rethinking Rubrics in Writing Assessment gives you the impetus to make a change demonstrating how rubrics can hurt kids and replace professional decision making with an inauthentic pigeonholing that stamps standardization onto a notably nonstandard process With an emphasis on thoughtful planning and teaching Wilson shows you how to reconsider writing assessment so that it aligns more closely with high quality instruction and avoids the potentially damaging effects of rubrics Stop listening to the conventional wisdom and turn instead to a compelling new voice to find out why rubrics are often replaceable Open Rethinking Rubrics in Writing Assessment and let Maja Wilson start you down the path to more sensitive authentic style of writing assessment
