infrequent deviant features embedded in a stream of frequent standard stimuli outside the focus of attention In this research topic we aim to present vMMN as a prediction error signal Predictive coding theories account for phenomena such as mismatch negativity and repetition suppression and place them in a broader context of a general theory of cortical responses A wide range of vMMN studies has been presented in this Research Topic Twelve articles address roughly four general sub themes including attention language face processing and psychiatric disorders Additionally four articles focused on particular subjects such as the oblique effect object formation and development and time frequency analysis of vMMN Furthermore a review paper presented vMMN in a hierarchical predictive coding framework Each paper in this Research Topic is a valuable contribution to the field of automatic visual change detection and deepens our understanding of the short term plasticity underlying predictive processes of visual perceptual learning
