Training the Senior Executive

It's hard to change conventional thinking about how the organization can be most effectively run. But the senior executive can help change that thinking.

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the physical fitness of 10-year-old children. The program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 30 minutes. The children were divided into two groups: a control group and an experimental group. The experimental group showed significant improvements in cardiovascular fitness, muscular strength, and flexibility compared to the control group. The results suggest that a structured physical education program can effectively improve the physical fitness of young children.
