Postmodernism in Pieces Matthew Mullins, 2016-07-01 Postmodernism in Pieces performs a postmortem on what is perhaps the most contested paradigm in literary studies In the wake of a critical consensus proclaiming its death Matthew Mullins breaks postmodernism down into its most fundamental orthodoxies and reassembles it piece by piece in light of recent theoretical developments in Actor Network Theory object oriented philosophy new materialism and posthumanism In the last two decades postmodernism has collapsed under the weight of the very phenomena it set out to deconstruct language whiteness masculinity class the academy Recasting these categories as social constructs has done little to alleviate their material effects Through detailed analyses of everyday objects in novels by Leslie Marmon Silko Toni Morrison Jonathan Lethem John Barth David Foster Wallace Don DeLillo and Julia Alvarez Mullins argues that what makes fiction postmodern is its refusal to accept social explanations for problems facing a given culture and its tendency instead to examine everyday things and people as constituent pieces of larger networks The result is a new story of postmodernism one that reimagines postmodernism as a starting point for a new mode of literary history rather than a finish line for modernity

Reluctant Modernists Peter Edgerly Firchow, 2002 The essays collected here deal with modernist writers who on the whole felt reluctant about their modernist status because they believed that it was just as important to look backward as it was to look forward Indeed for most of them looking backward was more important because it was only through the past that one could understand one's proper place in the present and in the future That is why in Huxley's Brave New World it is the rejection of the past in the future and by implication in the present that makes its satire so penetrating Modernism in other words means for these writers not a radical break with the past but a continuing search for what still connects them and us vitally with it Peter Firchow Professor of English at the University of Minnesota is the author of several books on modern and modernist literary subjects including books on Huxley Conrad and Auden The publication of some of his hitherto uncollected essays in this volume is intended to honor

Modernism and the Individual Talent Jörg Rademacher, Jörg W. Rademacher, 2002 Following their first gathering in Munster Westphalia the city of Ford's ancestors Fordians present a multi faceted image of this Anglo German and Francophile English Modernist International interest in the Hueffers German background will be triggered by two articles on Franz Hueffer and the references to Munster and Westphalia in Ford's writings Excursions in politics and poetry and Ford in context provide a framework for Aspects of Parade's End the edition and simultaneous translation of

Toni Morrison's Beloved and the Apotropaic Imagination Kathleen Marks, 2002 Toni Morrison's Beloved and the Apotropaic Imagination investigates Toni Morrison's Beloved in light of ancient Greek influences arguing that the African American experience depicted in the novel can be set in a broader context than is usually allowed Kathleen Marks gives a history of the apotropaic from ancient to modern times and shows the ways that Beloved protagonist Sethe and her community engage the apotropaic as a mode of dealing with their communal suffering Apotropaic from the Greek meaning to turn away from refers to rituals that were performed in ancient times to ward off evil deities Modern scholars use the term to denote an action that in attempting to prevent an evil causes that very evil Freud employed the apotropaic to explain his thought concerning Medusa and the castration complex and Derrida found the apotropaic's logic of self sabotage consonant with his own thought Marks draws on this critical history and argues that Morrison's heroine's effort to keep the past at bay is apotropaic a series of gestures aimed at resisting a danger a threat an imperative These gestures anticipate mirror and put into effect that which they seek to avoid one does what one finds horrible so as to mitigate its horror In Beloved Sethe's killing of her baby reveals this dynamic she kills the baby in order to save it As do all great heroes Sethe transgresses boundaries and such transgressions bring with them terrific dangers for example the figure Beloved Yet Sethe's action has ritualistic undertones that link it to the type of primal crimes that can bring relief to a petrified community It is through these apotropaic gestures that the heroine and the community resist what Morrison calls cultural amnesia and engage in a shared past finally inaugurating a new order of love Toni Morrison's Beloved and the Apotropaic Imagination is eclectic in its approach calling upon Greek religion Greek mythology and underworld images and psychology Marks looks at the losses and benefits of the kind of self damage self agency the apotropaic affords Such an approach helps to frame the questions of the role of suffering in human life the relation between humans and the underworld and the uses of memory and history

Critical Voicings of Black Liberation Kimberley Louise Phillips, 2003 The contributions to Critical Voices of Black Liberation in the Americas originated from the 1999 CAAR Conference in Munster and from conferences held in the US in 2000 and 2001 More than half of the eleven essays consider black performances on stage in sound and on film the remaining essays explore slavery African American literature and nineteenth century black educators These exciting essays creatively examine artistic and or political articulation of black liberation as the construction of a new critical and signifying voice This liberated and critical voice asserts itself as much as a communal expression of black subjectivities as it is an articulation of the black self
