The Multiple Realities of Multilingualism Elka Todeva, Jasone Cenoz, 2009-12-15 This book is the very first collection of first person language learning narratives that offers rich introspective data on the various processes and forces shaping the development and maintenance of multiple languages seven and more in a single individual The writers are twelve multilinguals who have been influenced by quite different contextual factors and who have learned a wide range and combination of dialects and languages from both similar and very different linguistic families The combinations explored in the narratives include some lesser known languages that come from under researched areas such as the African continent certain parts of Asia the Middle East and Eastern Europe Also unique are two theoretical chapters which analyze the narrative data against the background of language development research findings within several thematic areas multiple language learning as a complex dynamic system the influence of bilingualism multilingualism on the acquisition of additional languages cross linguistic influence and also emotions motivation and identity The aim of this juxtaposition and analysis is to allow a meaningful comparison of the extent to which etic researcher generated and emic learner offered perspectives match or diverge and to identify new questions that the emic data may add to research agendas The book is an excellent resource not only for researchers but also for teachers as well as for students of language at the graduate and undergraduate level

Autoethnographic Perspectives on Multilingual Life Stories Hancı-Azizoglu, Eda Başak, Şahinkarakaş, Şehnaz, Tannacito, Dan J., 2022-05-13 Storytelling is an ideal avenue for language learners to share their experiences and journeys and find a sense of identity Everyone who has learned an additional language has a story to tell but there is a unique type of autoethnographic and linguistic story that can be read in scholarly platforms Autoethnographic Perspectives on Multilingual Life Stories presents the life stories of multilingual people and their experiences by using autoethnography as a research method It proposes narrative as an autobiographical research method that provides the technique and opportunity to express how transnationals construct their identities in foreign and new contexts through partial or full life stories Covering topics such as identity life stories and self discovery this reference work is ideal for academicians researchers scholars practitioners instructors and students

Multiple Worlds of Child Writers Anne Haas Dyson, 1989 Based on a two year study of first graders at a magnet school in the San Francisco Bay Area Multiple Worlds of Child Writers Friends Learning to Write provides an important missing link in the study of emergent literacy the peer group and the classroom contexts that surround it Using four richly detailed case studies the author portrays the process through which Margaret the teacher and her children form a community one supported by and supporting of the children s growth as writers Dyson offers new perspectives by displaying the quality of life in the classroom through children s talk drawings and writing The theoretical framework presented here for understanding children s growth moves what is usually considered background to the foreground for study Most works on children s writing stress that children must disembed or decontextualize their written texts from dependency on other symbolic media and other people Dyson however shows that to develop as writers children's text must become progressively more embedded in the social affective and intellectual parts of their lives The book also emphasizes the nature of the classroom rather than the home as a distinctive context for early literacy growth Moreover the classroom is an urban one that includes children from diverse social and ethnic backgrounds The classroom and children whose lives fill this book challenge current thinking about such critical issues as the developmental links between writing and other symbol systems sequence and variability in early writing growth the relationship between form and function in young children's writing and the development of literary language This book is a must for early childhood educators reading and language arts specialists and scholars researchers in the field of literacy Anton Chekhov: The Collected Novellas and Short Stories in Multiple Translations (Unabridged) Anton Chekhov, 2015-06-01
