Landscape And Images John R Stilgoe:

Landscape and Images John R. Stilgoe, 2005 The proof says Stilgoe is all around us What Is Landscape? John R. Stilgoe, 2015-10-09 A lexicon and guide for discovering the essence of landscape Train Time John R. Stilgoe, 2007 Trains have a nostalgic connotation for most Americans but John Stilgoe argues that we should be looking to rail lines as the path to our future not just our past Train Time picks up where his acclaimed work Metropolitan Corridor left off carrying Stilgoe's ideas about the spatial consequences of railways up to the present moment With containers bringing the production of a global economy to our ports the price of oil skyrocketing and congestion and sprawl forcing many Americans to live far from work trains offer an obvious alternative to a culture dependent on cars and long haul trucking Arguing that the train is returning an economic and cultural tsunami about to transform the United States Stilgoe posits a future for railways as powerful shapers of American life For anyone looking for prescient analysis and compelling history of the American landscape and economy in general and railroad and transit history in particular Train Time is an engaging look at the future of our railroads and of transportation and land development For those familiar with John Stilgoe's talent for seeing things that elude the rest of us and delivering those observations in pithy asides about real estate corporate culture and other aspects of American life this book will not disappoint Old Fields John R. Stilgoe, 2014-03-04 Glamour subverts convention Models images and even landscapes can skew ordinary ways of seeing when viewed through the lens of photography suggesting new worlds imbued with fantasy mystery sexuality and tension In Old Fields John Stilgoe one of the most original observers of his time offers a poetic and controversial exploration of the generations long effort to portray glamour Fusing three forces in contemporary American culture amateur photography after 1880 the rise of glamour and fantasy and the often mysterious quality of landscape photographs Stilgoe provides a wide ranging yet concentrated take on the cultural legacy of our photographic history Through the medium of shop theory the techniques tools and purpose made equipment a maker uses to realize intent Stilgoe looks at the role of Eastman Kodak in shaping the ways photographers purchased cameras and films while also mapping the divisions that were created by European made cameras He then goes on to argue that with the proliferation of digital cameras smart phones and Instagram young people's lack of knowledge about photographic technique is in direct correlation to their lack of knowledge of the history of glamour photography In his exploration of the rise of glamour and fantasy in contemporary American culture Stilgoe offers a provocative and very personal look into his enduring fascination with and the possibilities inherent in creating one's own images Routledge Research Companion to Landscape Architecture Ellen Braae, Henriette Steiner, 2018-11-09 The Routledge Research Companion to Landscape Architecture considers landscape architecture's increasingly important cultural aesthetic and ecological role The volume reflects topical concerns in theoretical historical philosophical and practice related research in landscape architecture research that reflects our relationship with what has traditionally been called nature It does so at a time when questions about the use of global resources and understanding the links between human and non human worlds are more crucial than ever The twenty five chapters of this edited collection bring together significant positions in current landscape architecture research under five broad themes History Sites and Heritage City and Nature Ethics and Sustainability Knowledge and Practice supplemented with a discussion of landscape architecture education Prominent as well as up and coming contributors from landscape architecture and adjacent fields including Tom Avermaete Peter Carl Gareth Doherty Ottmar Ette Matthew Gandy Christophe Girot Anne Whiston Spirn Ian H Thompson and Jane Wolff seek to widen fuel and frame critical discussion in this growing area A significant contribution to landscape architecture research this book will be beneficial not only to students and academics in landscape architecture but also to scholars in related fields such as history architecture and social studies

On Landscapes Susan Herrington, 2009 There is no escaping landscape it s everywhere and part of everyone s life Landscapes have received much less attention in aesthetics than those arts we can choose to ignore such as painting or music but they can tell us a lot about the ethical and aesthetic values of the societies that produce them Drawing examples from a wide range of landscapes from around the world and throughout history Susan Herrington considers the ways landscapes can affect our emotions our imaginations and our understanding of the passage of time On Landscapes reveals the enormous design work involved in even the most naturalistic of landscapes such as Prospect Park in Brooklyn and the ways in which contemporary landscapes are turning the challenges of the industrial past into opportunities for the future These contemporary landscapes such as a park in Germany that uses industrial relics as ruins and a playground in Japan built on a former landfill signal a change in the way we think about nature and art By inviting us to thoughtfully see and experience the landscapes that we encounter in our daily lives On Landscapes demonstrates that art is all around us

What Nature Suffers to Groe Mart A. Stewart, 2002 What Nature Suffers to Groe explores the mutually transforming relationship between environment and human culture on the Georgia coastal plain between 1680 and 1920 Each of the successive communities on the coast the philanthropic and imperialistic experiment of the Georgia Trustees the plantation culture of rice and sea island cotton planters and their slaves and the postbellum society of wage earning freedmen lumbermen vacationing industrialists truck farmers river engineers and New South promoters developed unique relationships with the environment which in turn created unique landscapes The core landscape of this long history was the plantation landscape which persisted long after its economic foundation had begun to erode The heart of this study examines the connection between power relations and different perceptions and uses of the environment by masters and slaves on lowcountry plantations and how these differing habits of land use created different but interlocking landscapes Nature also has agency in this story some landscapes worked and some did not Mart A Stewart argues that the creation of both individual and collective livelihoods was the consequence not only of economic and social interactions but also of changing environmental ones and that even the best adaptations required constant negotiation between culture and nature In response to a question of perennial interest to historians of the South Stewart also argues that a sense of place grew out of these negotiations and that at least on the coastal plain the South as a place changed in meaning several times Mental Territories Katherine G. Morrissey, 2018-09-05 Rarely recognized outside its boundaries today the Pacific Northwest region known at the turn of the century as the Inland Empire included portions of the states of Washington and Idaho as well as British Columbia Katherine G Morrissey traces the history of this self proclaimed region from its origins through its heyday In doing so she challenges the characterization of regions as fixed places defined by their geography economy and demographics Regions she argues are best understood as mental constructs internally defined through conflicts and debates among different groups of people seeking to control a particular area s identity and direction She tells the story of the Inland Empire as a complex narrative of competing perceptions and interests Harvard Design Magazine ,2005 Landscapes
